Reds In Huddle On 'Rearming' West Germany

Meeting Follows Protest To U. S.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 20 (AP)—V. M. Molotov of Soviet Russia and foreign ministers of seven other Communist nations met here today with the announced purpose of discussing "the remilitarization of Western Germany," which the Soviet government has warned it will not tolerate.

The Czechslovak news agency and the Moscow radio announced the meeting tonight. It was called by the Soviet Union.

Molotov, a Soviet deputy prime minister long out of the Kermlin limelight, apparently is acting as Soviet foreign minister at the meeting. Andrei Y. Vishinsky, who succeeded Molotov as foreign minister March 5, 1949, is now attending the United Nations Assembly meeting in New York.

Meeting Follows Warning

The countries represented here, aside from the Soviet Union, are Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania, Hungary and East Germany. Among those present is the Communist woman chief of Romanian foreign affairs, Ana Pauker. The chairman of today's meeting was Czech Deputy Premier Zdenek Fierlinger.

The announcement of the meeting followed by a few hours Russia's warning to the United States, Britain and France that Russia will not tolerate a revival of the "German regular army in West Germany."

The warning, contained in identical notes to Washington, London and Paris and broadcast from Moscow, rejected charges by the three Western Powers that the people's police of Communist-ruled East Germany is in fact a military organization. Russia charged that the Western Nations were reviving German military might in their own zones.

U. S. To Reject Protest

(In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Acheson made it clear at his news conference that the U. S. will reject Russia's protest of what the Soviets call the rearming of Western Germany. Acheson denied that the development of a legitimate police force in Western Germany is the same as Russia's creation of a military force under the guise of police in Eastern Germany.)

France alone among the main Western Powers has been holding out against the rearming of West Germany. The United States is for it. Britain accepts the idea, but would like the other North Atlantic pact nations to rearm first.

The Germans themselves are divided.

Hurricane Roars Toward Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 20. (AP)—Hurricane warnings were ordered up at Cedar Key, 80 miles north of Tampa, tonight in the face of a small hurricane roaring northeastward toward the Florida Gulf coast.

Evacuation of low beaches along the 123-mile coast from Tampa to Fort Myers had been advised earlier but the 9 p. m. (EST) order to hoist hurricane warnings farther up the coast indicated the storm was turning more toward the northeast.

At 8:30 p. m. (EST) the hurricane was located about 200 miles southwest of Tampa, moving 12 to 14 miles per hour.

Residents along the 200-mile Gulf coast area from Cedar Key to Fort Myers were told to rush hurricane precautions.

The hurricane packed winds of 90 miles per hour in a small area near the center with heavy squalls covering a rather wide area to the east and south of the center. The Weather Bureau advised beach residents to evacuate .

Edward Kelly, Former Chicago Mayor, Dies

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (AP) — Edward J. Kelly, Democratic political boss and former mayor of Chicago, died today. He was 74.

The tall, red-haired civil engineer, who helped the late Franklin D. Roosevelt make third term presidential history, collapsed suddenly and died of heart disease in a doctor's office.

He had gone there for a periodic checkup and had just told the doctor: "I never felt better in my life."

Kelly was Democratic National Committeeman from Illinois and the brains of the old Kelly-Nash Chicago machine — one that used to grind out half a million votes for any man "Big Ed" okayed.

Henry L. Stimson, Who Served Four Presidents, Dies

Heart Attack Given As Cause Of Death

COLD SPRING HARBOR, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP)—Henry L. Stimson, 83, secretary of State under President Hoover and War secretary under three other presidents, died at his home here today.

A member of his family said death resulted from a heart attack. He had been troubled with a heart ailment since he left public office in 1945.

He broke his hip several weeks ago and was in the hospital a month.

His wife and members of the family were with him when he died shortly after 4 p. m. (EST) today.

A native of New York City, Stimson was a Wall Street lawyer all his life, except when he served in the cabinets of Presidents Taft, Hoover, Roosevelt and Truman.

Ran For N. Y. Governor

His first public office was as United States attorney for the Southern District of New York from 1906-09.

He ran for governor of New York on the Republican ticket in 1910 but was defeated.

The next year, President Taft called him to Washington as secretary of War and launched him on a career that was to bring him international attention.

He was President Coolidge's special representative to Nicaragua in 1927 and was named governor general of the Philippine Island the same year.

Retired In 1945

Stimson returned to the cabinet in 1929 as President Hoover's first and only secretary of State, serving in that post until Franklin D. Roosevelt became president in 1933.

Roosevelt called him back to service in 1940 as a Republican cabinet member—to his old post of secretary of War. He held that position throughout World War II.

Stimson stayed on briefly when President Truman took office in April, 1945, at Roosevelt's death, but retired in September of that year.

Fires Causing $100,000 Damage Set By Youth

CASPER, WYO., Oct. 20. (AP)—An 18-year-old boy set fire to nine business houses here last night, causing an estimated $100,000 damage, Police Administrator Leslie Sawyer said.

He identified the youth as Don Bennett. He said Bennett admitted starting the blazes because "I like fires."

Sawyer said Bennett broke into a music store, stole some money, and set his first fire when he saw some papers lying around. He went to eight more stores, starting fires at all of them. Three of his attempts were unsuccessful, but firemen were called to extinguish six.

Use Of Natural Rubber By U. S. Firms Slashed

NPA Acts To Assure Defense Supplies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The government cut into the civilian economy today for defense supplies of rubber, one special variety of stainless steel, and molasses to make alcohol.

Mandatory orders from the National Production Authority:

1. Restricted rubber companies, effective Nov. 1, to about the amount of material they were using before the Korean war and far less than they have been consuming since the fighting started. At the same time officials renewed assurances that no tire shortage is in sight.

2. Set aside for the defense program the whole production of stainless steel containing columbium, a corrosion-resistant alloy essential in jet engines and important for such products as surgical instruments and chemical equipment.

The day's third move to assure defense supplies was a request from the Agriculture Department to the Commerce Department for a stop order on all exports of molasses, a principal source of industrial alcohol.

The action on molasses fits into the rubber picture since alcohol is consumed in great quantities by the synthetic rubber plants which the government is pressing back into service. Only yesterday the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which operates the synthetic program, put whisky distillers on notice that the RFC will start buying alcohol from them early in December. Whether the distillers can meet the demand by stepping up production and without cutting into output of drinking alcohol was not immediately clear.

Technically today's rubber order limits tire manufacturers and other such users to 75 per cent of the amount of natural rubber they consumed in the year preceding June 30. It sets consumption of all rubber, including synthetic, at 84 per cent of the base year's use.

NPA officials, however, said that adjustments expected to be granted in special appeals cases will push actual use up to approximately the pre-Korea level, which averaged around 50,000 tons of natural rubber a month.

Western Nations Agree To Talks

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 20 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France provisionally agreed today to take part in five-power peace talks, but Russia's expected insistence on Chinese Communist participation could wreck the whole project.

U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles and British Minister of State Kenneth Younger warned against false hopes of easy or early success even if the Big Five ultimately get together around a conference table. They told the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee the world's present tension stems from basic disagreements rather than from a lack of big power meetings.

The dispute on Chinese representation strikes directly at the prospect for a Big Five conference. Russia repeatedly has sought to oust the Chinese Nationalists from the United Nations and give their seats to the Chinese Reds.

The United States has resisted the Soviet moves. The whole issue of Chinese representation is pending in the General Assembly.

While Russia has not yet participated in the 60-nation Political Committee's current debate, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky is expected to stick to his position on China when he makes his views known tomorrow.

Illegal TV Station Operated By Sylvania Is Closed Down

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced today that it had located an illegal television station atop a mountain in Pennsylvania and closed it down.

In the parlance of the trade it was "a first in television." The FCC said nothing like it had ever come up before.

The station, according to FCC, was being operated by the tube division of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., Emporium, Pa., one of the country's largest makers of television tubes. The explanation given by company officials for the unlicensed operation, the commission said, was that Sylvania knew it was of no use to apply for a broadcasting permit because of the two-year-old freeze on new TV grants. At Emporium tonight, Board Chairman M. F. Balcom of Sylvania had no comment.

FCC noted that operation of unlicensed video outlets involves a possible fine of $10,000, or two years imprisonment, or both, and said "further proceedings will be taken."

The FCC said it learned that Sylvania built a $7,000 transmitter with a 90-foot tower atop Whittemore mountain near Emporium and started intermittent broadcasts about Sept. 1, putting the operations on a regular basis about three weeks ago.

The broadcasts were noted by an FCC monitoring station on Channel 7—not assigned in the area—and traced to the mountain.

Pravda Rejects Stassen's Bid For Stalin Talk

MOSCOW, Oct. 20 (AP) — Pravda put the skids today under Harold E. Stassen's bid for a face-to-face talk with Prime Minister Stalin on world peace, declaring Stassen himself "understands fully the absurdity of his demands."

The official Communist Party newspaper dismissed as a dirty, clumsy election campaign trick the letter Stassen, a Republican leader who is president of the University of Pennsylvania, dispatched to Stalin through the Soviet Embassy in Washington Oct. 2.

Stassen had said he sought the conference in an effort to stop "the drift toward war." Pravda called him insolent, ridiculous, a slanderer, a shameless warmonger and a feverishly active political campaigner with a "thirst for self advertisement." The letter was described as an advertising essay intended to play on "the attraction of peace for American voters" in the coming congressional elections.

(In Philadelphia, Stassen said that he does "not accept the Pravda story as an answer to my October 1st letter to Premier Stalin. x x xI will await an answer from Prémier Stalin. If he is sincere in his expressed desire for world peace, he will answer me in due time.")

"Harold Stassen's program is a program of the armaments drive and further intensification of war preparations," said the Pravda article, written by Commentator Yuri Viktorov. "The hastily donned mask of a peacemaker cannot conceal his real face."

Pravda made it plain the Kremlin does not consider Stassen's letter worth a formal answer or, indeed that the Russians consider it was meant to receive any formal answer.

Bus-Car Crash Kills Two, Injures Dozen

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 20 (AP) — A Greyhound bus and an automobile collided south of here about 10 a. m. today killing two occupants of the car and injuring a dozen other persons, three critically.

The bus was en route from Winston-Salem, N. C., to Roanoke.

Killed were Marcus Allen Stickley, 78, and his wife, Mrs. Annette Cootes Stickley, Dayton, Va. Critically hurt were their son, Allen Raymond Stickley, 47, Washington, D. C.; his wife, Mrs. Dunreath Posey Stickley, 42; and Mrs. Wilbur Thomas, Martinsburg, W. Va., a sister of the elder Mrs. Stickley.

The southbound car crashed with the bus when the car attempted to pass a truck on a curve, state police said. The younger Stickley was identified as the driver of the automobile.

Champ Brings $4,751.85

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20 (AP) —The grand champion steer of the American Livestock Show brought $4,751.-85 at auction today.

The animal is Jug, a 1,185-pound Hereford, exhibited by 16-year-old Sim Reeves, Fort Stockton, Tex. The buyer was the Williams Meat Company of Kansas City, which paid $4.01 a pound.

Bread One Cent Loaf In Price War

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 20 (AP) — Bread sold at a penny a loaf today and the only catch was one-loaf-to-a-customer limit.

It was the result of a price war that started yesterday. The pound and a half loaf, normally 23 cents for most brands, started going down when local grocers matched a lower chain store price.

Veteran French Troops Dig In

SAIGON, Vietnam, Indochina, Oct. 20 (AP)—Seasoned French forces dug in with heavy armor today along the Red River delta while reinforcements were mobilized to bolster new positions for a stand against Communist-led Vietminh troops from the mountainous north.

Forced out of five frontier posts by strengthened Vietminh forces, the French were aligned in open country on the northern rim of the delta, with the backing of tanks, artillery and planes.

Military sources disclosed that alert orders are being sent to French army reservists in Indochina, who are subject to duty immediately upon publication of a mobilization call.

The French administration already is mobilizing all male civilians between the ages of 21 and 35 for a period of 21 days military duty. Jobs of French citizens were frozen.

While the French were concentrating their forces on the delta banks before the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong, the American aid program was being expanded and accelerated. The French aircraft carrier Dixmude is expected to dock here soon with a shipment of United States Navy type Hellcat fighter planes.

Yodeler Charged By Critical Moose

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 20 (AP)—Jack Kelton, 25-year-old ranch hand, liked to yodel and hear the Swiss yelps bounce back in echoes from the mountains.

He was at work near Haans Peak a few days ago, happily yodelling and chopping brush.

Suddenly a hefty and obviously critical bull moose charged out of the timber straight for Kelton.

"I had only an ax," said former Yodeler Kelton, "and I had to run like hell. Anyway, it's against the law to kill a moose."

Mother Identifies Negro As Man Who Raped Her

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 20. (AP) —Mrs. Kathleen Holley today identified an accused negro sex offender from a photograph as the man who raped her and murdered her 4-year-old son.

Sheriff A. E. Norwood said the 37-year-old Calera, Ala., farm wife was shown a "good picture" of Cooper Drake, 28-year-old ex-serviceman. She is in "fair" condition at Jefferson-Hillman hospital here.

Drake is under heavy guard at the same hospital to frustrate any attempted violence against him, Norwood said. The negro was wounded critically by members of a huge posse who shot him down yesterday 24 hours after the crime.

Dulles Accuses Malik Of Trying To Discredit Lie

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 20 (AP) — Russia's Jacob A. Malik said today American Delegate John Foster Dulles told him Trygve Lie has followed a "double-faced policy" as U. N. secretary-general but that the Americans had to support Lie because of many promises.

Dulles promptly replied there was "no truth" in Malik's remarks and accused the Russians of trying to discredit Lie.

Lie's Stock Rises

This development came during a day which saw Lie's stock for an extension of his term as secretary-general rise and saw Security Council members doom an Indian attempt at a compromise.

Five of the 11 Security Council members expressed themselves against the Indian move or were known to be opposed to it. They were Cuba, Yugoslavia, Britain, United States and Norway. A sixth, Ecuador, announced it would abstain but that it still backs Lie. A majority of seven is necessary to pass the Indian plan.

Faced with such opposition, the Indians were considering withdrawing the attempt when the council meets tomorrow at 11 a. m. E.S.T. for another session on Lie.

Reappointment Vetoed

Despite the improvements in prospects, it is anybody's guess whether Lie's term can be extended, as the U. S. wants to do, or whether the Russians will succeed in knocking him from his $40,000-per-year perch atop the U. N. secretariat.

Malik last week vetoed the reappointment of Lie for another five-year term. Nine members of the Security Council — United States, Britain, Cuba, Ecuador, Norway, Egypt, France, Yugoslavia and India, voted for Lie but the negative Soviet vote stymied the council. The eleventh member, Nationalist China, abstained.

Yugoslavia Asks Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP) — Yugoslavia asked the United States formally today to supply the $105,-000,000 in aid that Marshal Tito's regime calculates is needed to meet a food crisis brought on by a severe drought.

Russia Prepared To Talk Jap Peace Pact, Dulles Says

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 20 (AP) — John Foster Dulles announced today that the Russians have expressed their readiness to hold informal discussions with the United States on a Japanese peace treaty.

The U. S. delegate to the United Nations said a time for the discussions "probably will be arranged within the next few days."

He issued the following statement:

"In response to an inquiry Mr. (Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A.) Malik of the Soviet delegation has indicated that the Soviet government will be prepared to discuss with us informally the possibilities of a Japanese treaty.

"The time and place of the discussions probably will be arranged within the next few days."

Pacific Airlift Seen Continuing After War Ends

Gen. Kuter Predicts Further Deployment

HONOLULU, Oct. 20 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, Military Air Transport Service commander, today predicted "extensive and further deployment of U. S. troops and materiel" in the Far East after the Korean war.

Gen. Kuter, en route home from a global tour of MATS bases, said:

"The Pacific airlift will continue indefinitely after the end of the shooting in Korea."

He told reporters at Hickam Air Force Base "it is impossible to forecast when the airlift will end."

"Continuing Operation"

Gen. Kuter continued:

"At the end of the shooting in Korea there will be extensive and further deployment of troops and materiel" in the Far East.

"The airlift will be a continuing operation of indefinite duration."

(In Washington, a usually well-informed defense source expressed belief that Kuter was talking about taking troops and air units out of Korea after the victory and reshuffling some of them in Japan and other areas where the U. S. already maintains forces.

(He said it was possible that some troops might be sent from Korea to Germany, although this had not been decided. Speculating on other places where part of U. S. forces in Korea might be redeployed, he also mentioned Alaska.

(This source expressed conviction that Kuter was not talking about moving U. S. forces to Indo-China.)

Surpasses Berlin Airlift

The Pacific airlift began after the North Korean army stormed south across the 38th parallel June 25.

It has been built up until it exceeds in volume Berlin's famed "Operation Vittles" of 1948-49.

Gen. Kuter said four-engined transports were ferrying troops and materiel across the Pacific at the rate of one plane every 75 minutes.

The airlift averaged 252,000 plane-miles a day in September, he said. The Berlin airlift's average daily haul was 10,000 plane-miles less than that or 242,000 per day.

City Of MacArthur Dedicated On Leyte

MANILA, Oct. 20 (AP) — The new city of MacArthur was dedicated today on Leyte island, where American forces landed six years ago to open the Philippines liberation campaign.

President Quirino proclaimed Oct. 20 an annual holiday in Leyte province.

Gen. MacArthur messaged his gratitude but said it was more "a tribute to the Philippines' loyalty and service to the cause of freedom."

'Chutists Land In North Korea To Trap Reds

M'Arthur Says War Is Coming To End

TOKYO, Saturday, Oct. 21 (AP) — Two battalion of U. S. parachute troopers jumped unopposed into Red Korea between the fallen capital of Pyongyang and the Manchurian border Friday under the personal direction of Gen. MacArthur.

The United Nations commander said after the surprise operation:

"The war is very definitely coming to an end."

He did not amplify.

The 'chutists had two missions: To block escape of die-hard North Korean Reds still battling United Nations troops in and around secured Pyongyang, and to rescue American prisoners of war.

Three thousand parachute troops floated down from 80 C-119s and 40 C-47s onto flat land near Sukchon and Sunchon, each roughly 30 miles north of Pyongyang and 80 miles southeast of the Manchurian border.

The towns are on the two main roads leading north from the captured Red stronghold of Pyongyang.

The newly-landed paratroopers were reinforced by leading elements of the South Korean 6th Division. The republican troops linked up with the Americans at 8 p. m. (6 a. m., EST) Friday at Sunchon only six hours after the 'chutists made their drop.

An Eighth Army spokesman said the 6th Division's rapid move probably cut off many enemy troops and set the stage for a South Korean drive to the Manchurian border.

After watching the first airborne operation of this war from his Constellation plane, MacArthur said:

"I didn't see any opposition. It looks like it was a complete surprise. It looks like we closed the trap. Closing that trap should be the end of all organized resistance. The war is very definitely coming to an end."

It had begun June 25 when the North Korean Reds invaded South Korea and almost succeeded in overruning the whole peninsula before the American-led United Nations forces could concentrate the power for the present successful counteroffensive.

The parachute drop might be the last big operation of that counter-offensive.

Air observers said the only Red troop movements they could see after the drop were north of Suchon and Sukchon.

They saw none between the drop area and Pyongyang to the south.

The trap thus may have been sprung too late.

Bad weather forced delay of the airborne operation from Thursday and postponed it twice on Friday.

AP Correspondent Leif Erickson reported from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters in Seoul, the southern capital, that if the drop could have been made Thursday—as speeding Allied armored columns raced into Pyongyang—it would have trapped a much greater bag of fleeing Reds.

Also, Erickson said, there would have been a greater chance then to have captured some of the Red command staff charged with the defense of Pyongyang.

Acheson Lists Peace Conditions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson laid down two conditions today as essential for any successful talks between the Western Powers and Russia on their critical outstanding differences.

These conditions, he told a news conference, are:

1. A change in Russia's attitude.

2. Development of a position of equality between the two sides—by which he meant equality of military power.

In speeches over several months he has taken the line that development of adequate military power in the free world might eventually force changes in Soviet policies and open the way for negotiations.

The effect of his news conference remarks today, however, was to throw cold water on the hopes which periodically arise for successful East-West talks at this time and to put the blame for this situation on Russia.

As a matter of principle, Acheson declared, the United States is ready to talk with anybody at any time, including Russia. He said this was what American Representative John Foster Dulles was talking about at the United Nations today when Dulles announced the United States was willing to join in big power talks on world problems.

Truman Forecast "Wrong," GOP Chairman Declares

[By The Associated Press]

President Truman's forecast of a Democratic landslide in November was labelled "definitely wrong" yesterday by Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson.

"I think it will be just the reverse," Gabrielson said. "If we keep working as we are now, there very definitely will be Republican victories in all parts of the country. We could very easily win control of both houses of Congress."

Just back from a three-week tour of eight western states, the GOP chairman took issue with all but one of the political comments Mr. Truman had made to a news conference the day before. The one exception was the President's statement that the election returns will surprise Republicans.

Acknowledging that the Republicans were surprised by the Democratic victory in 1948, Gabrielson said: "We will be surprised the right way this time — or at least our way."

He also told a news conference he didn't think the much-publicized "Hanley letter" would have a great deal of effect on the red-hot New York state campaign.

"It is evidence of the poor position of the Democrats that they are making so much noise about one letter," Gabrielson said.

Mr. Truman had expressed the view that the Hanley letter certainly would have an effect — and that it wouldn't hurt the Democrats .

The day's third move to assure defense supplies was a request from the Agriculture Department to the Commerce Department for a stop order on all exports of molasses, a principal source of industrial alcohol.

The action on molasses fits into the rubber picture since alcohol is consumed in great quantities by the synthetic rubber plants which the government is pressing back into service. Only yesterday the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which operates the synthetic program, put whisky distillers on notice that the RFC will start buying alcohol from them early in December. Whether the distillers can meet the demand by stepping up production and without cutting into output of drinking alcohol was not immediately clear.

Technically today's rubber order limits tire manufacturers and other such users to 75 per cent of the amount of natural rubber they consumed in the year preceding June 30. It sets consumption of all rubber, including synthetic, at 84 per cent of the base year's use.

NPA officials, however, said that adjustments expected to be granted in special appeals cases will push actual use up to approximately the pre-Korea level, which averaged around 50,000 tons of natural rubber a month.

Western Nations Agree To Talks

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 20 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France provisionally agreed today to take part in five-power peace talks, but Russia's expected insistence on Chinese Communist participation could wreck the whole project.

U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles and British Minister of State Kenneth Younger warned against false hopes of easy or early success even if the Big Five ultimately get together around a conference table. They told the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee the world's present tension stems from basic disagreements rather than from a lack of big power meetings.

The dispute on Chinese representation strikes directly at the prospect for a Big Five conference. Russia repeatedly has sought to oust the Chinese Nationalists from the United Nations and give their seats to the Chinese Reds.

The United States has resisted the Soviet moves. The whole issue of Chinese representation is pending in the General Assembly.

While Russia has not yet participated in the 60-nation Political Committee's current debate, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky is expected to stick to his position on China when he makes his views known tomorrow.

Illegal TV Station Operated By Sylvania Is Closed Down

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced today that it had located an illegal television station atop a mountain in Pennsylvania and closed it down.

In the parlance of the trade it was "a first in television." The FCC said nothing like it had ever come up before.

The station, according to FCC, was being operated by the tube division of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., Emporium, Pa., one of the country's largest makers of television tubes. The explanation given by company officials for the unlicensed operation, the commission said, was that Sylvania knew it was of no use to apply for a broadcasting permit because of the two-year-old freeze on new TV grants. At Emporium tonight, Board Chairman M. F. Balcom of Sylvania had no comment.

FCC noted that operation of unlicensed video outlets involves a possible fine of $10,000, or two years imprisonment, or both, and said "further proceedings will be taken."

The FCC said it learned that Sylvania built a $7,000 transmitter with a 90-foot tower atop Whittemore mountain near Emporium and started intermittent broadcasts about Sept. 1, putting the operations on a regular basis about three weeks ago.

The broadcasts were noted by an FCC monitoring station on Channel 7—not assigned in the area—and traced to the mountain.

Pravda Rejects Stassen's Bid For Stalin Talk

MOSCOW, Oct. 20 (AP) — Pravda put the skids today under Harold E. Stassen's bid for a face-to-face talk with Prime Minister Stalin on world peace, declaring Stassen himself "understands fully the absurdity of his demands."

The official Communist Party newspaper dismissed as a dirty, clumsy election campaign trick the letter Stassen, a Republican leader who is president of the University of Pennsylvania, dispatched to Stalin through the Soviet Embassy in Washington Oct. 2.

Stassen had said he sought the conference in an effort to stop "the drift toward war." Pravda called him insolent, ridiculous, a slanderer, a shameless warmonger and a feverishly active political campaigner with a "thirst for self advertisement." The letter was described as an advertising essay intended to play on "the attraction of peace for American voters" in the coming congressional elections.

(In Philadelphia, Stassen said that he does "not accept the Pravda story as an answer to my October 1st letter to Premier Stalin. x x xI will await an answer from Prémier Stalin. If he is sincere in his expressed desire for world peace, he will answer me in due time.")

"Harold Stassen's program is a program of the armaments drive and further intensification of war preparations," said the Pravda article, written by Commentator Yuri Viktorov. "The hastily donned mask of a peacemaker cannot conceal his real face."

Pravda made it plain the Kremlin does not consider Stassen's letter worth a formal answer or, indeed that the Russians consider it was meant to receive any formal answer.

Bus-Car Crash Kills Two, Injures Dozen

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 20 (AP) — A Greyhound bus and an automobile collided south of here about 10 a. m. today killing two occupants of the car and injuring a dozen other persons, three critically.

The bus was en route from Winston-Salem, N. C., to Roanoke.

Killed were Marcus Allen Stickley, 78, and his wife, Mrs. Annette Cootes Stickley, Dayton, Va. Critically hurt were their son, Allen Raymond Stickley, 47, Washington, D. C.; his wife, Mrs. Dunreath Posey Stickley, 42; and Mrs. Wilbur Thomas, Martinsburg, W. Va., a sister of the elder Mrs. Stickley.

The southbound car crashed with the bus when the car attempted to pass a truck on a curve, state police said. The younger Stickley was identified as the driver of the automobile.

Champ Brings $4,751.85

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20 (AP) —The grand champion steer of the American Livestock Show brought $4,751.-85 at auction today.

The animal is Jug, a 1,185-pound Hereford, exhibited by 16-year-old Sim Reeves, Fort Stockton, Tex. The buyer was the Williams Meat Company of Kansas City, which paid $4.01 a pound.

Bread One Cent Loaf In Price War

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 20 (AP) — Bread sold at a penny a loaf today and the only catch was one-loaf-to-a-customer limit.

It was the result of a price war that started yesterday. The pound and a half loaf, normally 23 cents for most brands, started going down when local grocers matched a lower chain store price.

Veteran French Troops Dig In

SAIGON, Vietnam, Indochina, Oct. 20 (AP)—Seasoned French forces dug in with heavy armor today along the Red River delta while reinforcements were mobilized to bolster new positions for a stand against Communist-led Vietminh troops from the mountainous north.

Forced out of five frontier posts by strengthened Vietminh forces, the French were aligned in open country on the northern rim of the delta, with the backing of tanks, artillery and planes.

Military sources disclosed that alert orders are being sent to French army reservists in Indochina, who are subject to duty immediately upon publication of a mobilization call.

The French administration already is mobilizing all male civilians between the ages of 21 and 35 for a period of 21 days military duty. Jobs of French citizens were frozen.

While the French were concentrating their forces on the delta banks before the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong, the American aid program was being expanded and accelerated. The French aircraft carrier Dixmude is expected to dock here soon with a shipment of United States Navy type Hellcat fighter planes.

Yodeler Charged By Critical Moose

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 20 (AP)—Jack Kelton, 25-year-old ranch hand, liked to yodel and hear the Swiss yelps bounce back in echoes from the mountains.

He was at work near Haans Peak a few days ago, happily yodelling and chopping brush.

Suddenly a hefty and obviously critical bull moose charged out of the timber straight for Kelton.

"I had only an ax," said former Yodeler Kelton, "and I had to run like hell. Anyway, it's against the law to kill a moose."

Mother Identifies Negro As Man Who Raped Her

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 20. (AP) —Mrs. Kathleen Holley today identified an accused negro sex offender from a photograph as the man who raped her and murdered her 4-year-old son.

Drake is under heavy guard at the same hospital to frustrate any attempted violence against him, Norwood said. The negro was wounded critically by members of a huge posse who shot him down yesterday 24 hours after the crime.

Dulles Accuses Malik Of Trying To Discredit Lie

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 20 (AP) — Russia's Jacob A. Malik said today American Delegate John Foster Dulles told him Trygve Lie has followed a "double-faced policy" as U. N. secretary-general but that the Americans had to support Lie because of many promises.

Dulles promptly replied there was "no truth" in Malik's remarks and accused the Russians of trying to discredit Lie.

Lie's Stock Rises

This development came during a day which saw Lie's stock for an extension of his term as secretary-general rise and saw Security Council members doom an Indian attempt at a compromise.

Five of the 11 Security Council members expressed themselves against the Indian move or were known to be opposed to it. They were Cuba, Yugoslavia, Britain, United States and Norway. A sixth, Ecuador, announced it would abstain but that it still backs Lie. A majority of seven is necessary to pass the Indian plan.

Faced with such opposition, the Indians were considering withdrawing the attempt when the council meets tomorrow at 11 a. m. E.S.T. for another session on Lie.

Reappointment Vetoed

Despite the improvements in prospects, it is anybody's guess whether Lie's term can be extended, as the U. S. wants to do, or whether the Russians will succeed in knocking him from his $40,000-per-year perch atop the U. N. secretariat.

Malik last week vetoed the reappointment of Lie for another five-year term. Nine members of the Security Council — United States, Britain, Cuba, Ecuador, Norway, Egypt, France, Yugoslavia and India, voted for Lie but the negative Soviet vote stymied the council. The eleventh member, Nationalist China, abstained.

Yugoslavia Asks Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP) — Yugoslavia asked the United States formally today to supply the $105,-000,000 in aid that Marshal Tito's regime calculates is needed to meet a food crisis brought on by a severe drought.

Russia Prepared To Talk Jap Peace Pact, Dulles Says

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 20 (AP) — John Foster Dulles announced today that the Russians have expressed their readiness to hold informal discussions with the United States on a Japanese peace treaty.

The U. S. delegate to the United Nations said a time for the discussions "probably will be arranged within the next few days."

He issued the following statement:

"In response to an inquiry Mr. (Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A.) Malik of the Soviet delegation has indicated that the Soviet government will be prepared to discuss with us informally the possibilities of a Japanese treaty.

"The time and place of the discussions probably will be arranged within the next few days."

Pacific Airlift Seen Continuing After War Ends

Gen. Kuter Predicts Further Deployment

HONOLULU, Oct. 20 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, Military Air Transport Service commander, today predicted "extensive and further deployment of U. S. troops and materiel" in the Far East after the Korean war.

Gen. Kuter, en route home from a global tour of MATS bases, said:

"The Pacific airlift will continue indefinitely after the end of the shooting in Korea."

He told reporters at Hickam Air Force Base "it is impossible to forecast when the airlift will end."

"Continuing Operation"

Gen. Kuter continued:

"At the end of the shooting in Korea there will be extensive and further deployment of troops and materiel" in the Far East.

"The airlift will be a continuing operation of indefinite duration."

(In Washington, a usually well-informed defense source expressed belief that Kuter was talking about taking troops and air units out of Korea after the victory and reshuffling some of them in Japan and other areas where the U. S. already maintains forces.

(He said it was possible that some troops might be sent from Korea to Germany, although this had not been decided. Speculating on other places where part of U. S. forces in Korea might be redeployed, he also mentioned Alaska.

(This source expressed conviction that Kuter was not talking about moving U. S. forces to Indo-China.)

Surpasses Berlin Airlift

The Pacific airlift began after the North Korean army stormed south across the 38th parallel June 25.

It has been built up until it exceeds in volume Berlin's famed "Operation Vittles" of 1948-49.

Gen. Kuter said four-engined transports were ferrying troops and materiel across the Pacific at the rate of one plane every 75 minutes.

The airlift averaged 252,000 plane-miles a day in September, he said. The Berlin airlift's average daily haul was 10,000 plane-miles less than that or 242,000 per day.

City Of MacArthur Dedicated On Leyte

MANILA, Oct. 20 (AP) — The new city of MacArthur was dedicated today on Leyte island, where American forces landed six years ago to open the Philippines liberation campaign.

President Quirino proclaimed Oct. 20 an annual holiday in Leyte province.

Gen. MacArthur messaged his gratitude but said it was more "a tribute to the Philippines' loyalty and service to the cause of freedom."

'Chutists Land In North Korea To Trap Reds

M'Arthur Says War Is Coming To End

TOKYO, Saturday, Oct. 21 (AP) — Two battalion of U. S. parachute troopers jumped unopposed into Red Korea between the fallen capital of Pyongyang and the Manchurian border Friday under the personal direction of Gen. MacArthur.

The United Nations commander said after the surprise operation:

"The war is very definitely coming to an end."

He did not amplify.

The 'chutists had two missions: To block escape of die-hard North Korean Reds still battling United Nations troops in and around secured Pyongyang, and to rescue American prisoners of war.

Three thousand parachute troops floated down from 80 C-119s and 40 C-47s onto flat land near Sukchon and Sunchon, each roughly 30 miles north of Pyongyang and 80 miles southeast of the Manchurian border.

The towns are on the two main roads leading north from the captured Red stronghold of Pyongyang.

The newly-landed paratroopers were reinforced by leading elements of the South Korean 6th Division. The republican troops linked up with the Americans at 8 p. m. (6 a. m., EST) Friday at Sunchon only six hours after the 'chutists made their drop.

An Eighth Army spokesman said the 6th Division's rapid move probably cut off many enemy troops and set the stage for a South Korean drive to the Manchurian border.

After watching the first airborne operation of this war from his Constellation plane, MacArthur said:

"I didn't see any opposition. It looks like it was a complete surprise. It looks like we closed the trap. Closing that trap should be the end of all organized resistance. The war is very definitely coming to an end."

It had begun June 25 when the North Korean Reds invaded South Korea and almost succeeded in overruning the whole peninsula before the American-led United Nations forces could concentrate the power for the present successful counteroffensive.

The parachute drop might be the last big operation of that counter-offensive.

Air observers said the only Red troop movements they could see after the drop were north of Suchon and Sukchon.

They saw none between the drop area and Pyongyang to the south.

The trap thus may have been sprung too late.

Bad weather forced delay of the airborne operation from Thursday and postponed it twice on Friday.

AP Correspondent Leif Erickson reported from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters in Seoul, the southern capital, that if the drop could have been made Thursday—as speeding Allied armored columns raced into Pyongyang—it would have trapped a much greater bag of fleeing Reds.

Also, Erickson said, there would have been a greater chance then to have captured some of the Red command staff charged with the defense of Pyongyang.

Acheson Lists Peace Conditions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson laid down two conditions today as essential for any successful talks between the Western Powers and Russia on their critical outstanding differences.

These conditions, he told a news conference, are:

1. A change in Russia's attitude.

2. Development of a position of equality between the two sides—by which he meant equality of military power.

In speeches over several months he has taken the line that development of adequate military power in the free world might eventually force changes in Soviet policies and open the way for negotiations.

The effect of his news conference remarks today, however, was to throw cold water on the hopes which periodically arise for successful East-West talks at this time and to put the blame for this situation on Russia.

As a matter of principle, Acheson declared, the United States is ready to talk with anybody at any time, including Russia. He said this was what American Representative John Foster Dulles was talking about at the United Nations today when Dulles announced the United States was willing to join in big power talks on world problems.

Truman Forecast "Wrong," GOP Chairman Declares

[By The Associated Press]

President Truman's forecast of a Democratic landslide in November was labelled "definitely wrong" yesterday by Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson.

"I think it will be just the reverse," Gabrielson said. "If we keep working as we are now, there very definitely will be Republican victories in all parts of the country. We could very easily win control of both houses of Congress."

Just back from a three-week tour of eight western states, the GOP chairman took issue with all but one of the political comments Mr. Truman had made to a news conference the day before. The one exception was the President's statement that the election returns will surprise Republicans.

Acknowledging that the Republicans were surprised by the Democratic victory in 1948, Gabrielson said: "We will be surprised the right way this time — or at least our way."

He also told a news conference he didn't think the much-publicized "Hanley letter" would have a great deal of effect on the red-hot New York state campaign.

"It is evidence of the poor position of the Democrats that they are making so much noise about one letter," Gabrielson said.

Mr. Truman had expressed the view that the Hanley letter certainly would have an effect — and that it wouldn't hurt the Democrats .

Tydings, On Air Again, Sarcastic

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20 (AP) — Sen. Tydings (D-Md), sarcastic about his interrupted nation - wide broadcast last night took over Commentator Fulton Lewis, Jr.'s radio time again tonight.

Tydings was scheduled for a 15-minute rebuttal period yesterday. But he was cut off the network for about three and one-half minutes by what the Mutual Broadcasting System called mechanical difficulties.

Referring tonight to the troubles Tydings called them "alleged—and I underscore the word alleged—mechanical difficulties."

Anyway, he added, he had asked Lewis for two 15-minute periods to answer two periods in which Lewis attacked him. Instead, Tydings said, he was allowed only one.

The Senator said he would make a second reply on Monday if Lewis permits him the time.

Tydings tonight repeated much of what he said last night during the period after he was restored to the air.

He denied Lewis' contention that his committee to investigate Communists in government had handed up a whitewash and that that whitewash was "catching up with" Tydings.

Couple Denies Keeping Woman In Slavery

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20 (AP)—"Utterly false and untrue" a Baltimore couple said today of charges that they kept a former mental institution patient in virtual slavery for more than 12 years.

The allegations were made in a $125,000 damage suit yesterday by Mrs. Elsie T. Jensen, 41, a former patient at the state's Rosewood Training School for Feeble Minded Children.

The defendants are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Weinberg, formerly of Blackstone, Va., and now living here. Weinberg issued this statement:

"The plaintiff in this case has not been with us for three years. Some time ago a demand was made upon us for money. It was indignantly refused.

"I now notice that the sum demanded has been upped a hundredfold. I have placed the matter in the hands of my attorneys. The allegations are utterly false and untrue."

Girl Gets Bike Thanks To Sergeant In Korea

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Oct. 20 (AP) — Last September John Aman told police he faked a story about a holdup so his family would not know he paid $4.60 for a second hand bicycle for his eight-year-old daughter, Edna.

The bicycle was a birthday present.

The story got into the newspapers and a clipping of it wound up on the Korean battlefront.

Don Taylor, mayor of Marshalltown, disclosed today he had received a letter from Sgt. John E. Waivel, enclosing the newspaper clipping and $30 to buy Edna a brand new bike. The Mayor made arrangements for the girl to pick out the bike herself.

There are more than 20 species of coffee plant in the world.

Naval Readiness

Ever since the late, lamented statements which implied that licking Russia before breakfast would be a cinch, the populace has instinctively ducked when someone high up says the country is "ready" for this or that.

Navy Secretary Matthews has just put himself out on the limb by saying, during a television interview, that the blue water service is primed and cocked. This is worth looking into.

Being "ready" takes in a great deal of territory and requires elaboration. Mr. Matthews obliged by saying that advances are being made in anti-submarine warfare that will rob enemy submersibles of the advantage they enjoy over certain surface vessels. This is a hint that something better than present means of detecting and tracking submarines may have been discovered.

To date the rate of increase in effectiveness of postwar submarines has greatly outstripped the best counter-measures it has been possible to evolve. That the Navy may have developed better sub catching and killing methods isn't cause for too great astonishment, however. This problem has been given top priority since the war.

The bulk of Secretary Matthews' generalizations can be backed with known facts. The Pacific fleet is being reinforced at a rapid rate, and there seems to be no limit to the numerical strength in ships and men that the Navy intends to send afloat over the next few years.

On the basis of the carrier strikes on the Korean Peninsula and the precision work displayed during the amphibious lift to the Inchon beaches it appears that the Navy is taut and hasn't forgotten any of the old plays.

As for the statement that the Navy is "ready for anything" in the Pacific, it can only be hoped that it is not an exaggeration.

End Is Near

With United Nations troops in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, there is a growing belief in Tokyo military circles that the end of fighting in Korea could come in a few weeks. But a long mopping up period may follow.

It has been clear for days that organized resistance could not go on much longer. A prolonged, last-ditch stand by the Communists at Pyongyang was not in the cards.

Some Red soldiers are reported to be retreating northward toward the border. But they will find safety only if they cross it, for they will be pursued. The possibility remains that some survivors will take to the mountains and carry on the war as guerillas. This is a danger that has been heavily stressed because the Communists apparently can count on using Chinese territory as a base of operations. Indications are, however, that this danger has been exaggerated.

Guerilla warfare can be effective against a feeble government, particularly a foreign government. But partisans need more than a base. They must also have the connivance of the civilian population. It is doubtful that the Communists can count on civilian cooperation in Korea.

Furthermore, they will not have weak detachments of foreign troops to deal with. The victors are strong now and will hand over the task, in time, to strong Korean forces.

Vanishing Classes

In England, where socialism has taken firm root, the upper economic class—the management class—is well on the way out. This is accomplished by the simple device of inheritance taxes so high that a capitalist cannot pass his wealth on to his heirs. This tax is more than 80 per cent in the upper brackets.

The two Rootes brothers owned Rootes Motors Ltd., one of the larger British motor car manufacturers. One of the brothers died. Rather than sell the whole company and break it up, shares were offered to the public to raise the money to pay the inheritance tax. This sale transfers control of the company to other hands.

"It was our ambition," said Sir William Rootes, "to build, create and pass on a great world-wide business intact to our sons. After 30 years of hard work we find ourselves in this position."

Socialist policy also wrecks the middle classes, as has been demonstrated often. Here in America, if inflation continues on its present course, the great unorganized masses will be erased because they cannot take in enough dollars to pay their way.

With both the wealthy and the middle classes gone, there would be left only the proletariat and their totalitarian masters. This happened in Russia, it is happening in England, and it is making rapid progress in the United States.

Yugoslavia Speaks Out

"The Soviet policy is undermining the forces of democracy in the world by its persistent tendency to bring every progressive movement under its absolute sway." This might have been said by American Secretary of State Dean Acheson, but was in fact uttered by Edvard Kardelj, the Yugoslav foreign minister, before the United Nations General Assembly.

Yugoslavia is a Communist state, but it recognizes that communism is not the main feature which makes Russia the enemy of the rest of the world. If the Soviet Union let other nations alone instead of trying to conquer them, it would have small cause to fear aggression.

An Artist On Noses

THE NOSE has been scrutinized from every angle. It has been ridiculed and praised by men and women from every walk of life. The organ has many nicknames, comes in a variety of sizes and shapes, and, when it fails to function properly, makes our life miserable.

Dr. Noah D. Fabricant, who has a hobby of collecting material on noses, recently incorporated some interesting aspects of the old proboscis into an article in a reissue of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Monthly. It was entitled, "Of and About the Nose," and he cites the following limerick:

"If he lives where the ozone is rare,
His nose is constricted and spare.
If he breathes air that's humid,
His beak gets tumid
And his nostrils exceedingly flare."

This has considerable anthropological significance because we know that the shape of the nose conforms to climatic conditions. Those who live in colder regions have a narrow nose, whereas the Negro, whose natural habitat was warm and humid, possesses the broadest nose.

•—•—•

It also was amusing to read of the folklore surrounding the old ideas on the cause of nasal itching. To some, it meant "kissing a fool," or was a sign that you are going to be angry, to have company, to get a letter or pleasant news, or that someone is thinking of you.

Leonardo da Vinci's dissertation about the nose also was included. The artist pointed out:

"If you desire to acquire facility in keeping in your mind the expression of a face, first learn by heart the various kinds of heads, eyes, noses, mouths, chins, throats and also necks and shoulders. Take as an instance noses; they are of 10 types: straight, bulbous, hollow, prominent either above or below the center, aquiline, regular, simian, round, and pointed. These divisions hold good as regards profile. Seen from in front, noses are of 12 types: thick in the middle, thin in the middle, with the tip broad, and narrow at the base, and narrow at the tip, and with the openings either visible or hidden by the tip.

"And similarly you will find variety in the other features, of which things you ought to make studies from nature and so fix them in your mind. Or when you have to draw a face from memory, carry with you a small notebook in which you have noted down such features, and then when you have cast a glance at the face of the person whom you wish to draw you can look privately and see which nose or mouth has a resemblance to it, and make a tiny mark against it in order to recognize it again at home. Of abnormal faces I here say nothing, for they are kept in mind without difficulty."

A GOOD HEART

M. T. writes: What can be do to take better care of our hearts?

REPLY

This is a large order but the best way to prevent heart disease is to attempt to avoid the cause. This means that we should shun infections, or obtain the proper care when they do exist, and make moderation the keynote of our lives. We cannot do too much about arteriosclerosis, which is one of the most frequent causes of heart disease, because it is a natural sequence to aging. But we know that high blood pressure, obesity, and disorders such as diabetes hasten the process and much can be done to keep these conditions under control if they are recognized early. Furthermore, all men and women past the age of 50 should report to their physicians at periodic intervals for a check and a chance to discuss symptoms that might be cardiac in origin.

NOT A SIGN

M. S. writes: Someone told me that the first stage of insanity is forgetfulness. Is this so?

REPLY

No, as most of us begin to develop this symptom in the teens. Furthermore, it is a common belief that with each decade we become more forgetful. After all, we cannot be expected to remember everything; and to forget occasionally is perfectly normal.

Real Heroes In War Drawing Least Pay And Fewest Medals; Mrs. Veep Has No Yen For Flying; Sen. Williams Battling For Farmers

Says DREW PEARSON

ENROUTE — Under the current army pay system, the real heroes in the Korean war are drawing the least pay. They don't even get a fair share of the glory when the publicity and medals are dished out.

These unsung heroes are the infantrymen, who form the army's battering ram, but who are not paid as much as the technical men and pencil pushers behind the lines.

It used to be that infantrymen, could collect $10 extra each month for combat work. If they wore the Combat Infantryman's Badge, it was good for a $10 monthly bonus. However, even this has been taken away from them in Korea, despite the fact that combat airmen and submarine men still draw $20 to $75 per month extra for "hazardous duty."

Meanwhile, it's the infantrymen who feel the bite of enemy bullets, who slog through mud, sleep in foxholes and live on cold K rations, who have little chance to take a both sea a movie, attend church, write letters, or sleep with their shoes off.

Nevertheless, in Korea, the average monthly pay of a man in an infantry rifle company is $135, compared with $226 for an air force combat crew man and $172 for a submarine crew.

Highest-paid troops in the army are ordnance men, followed by signal corps, armored force, quartermaster, antiaircraft, field artillery, engineers, medical and, last on the list, the infantry.

It's the same story with other awards. During World War II, infantrymen suffered 70 per cent of the casualties but got only 11.6 per cent of the medals, The air force was decorated with 76.2 per cent of the medals, while other branches got the remaining 12.2 per cent.

Now that the Korean war is nearly won, the army should give fair pay and recognition to the foot soldiers who did the slugging and the slogging.

No Airplanes For Mrs. Veep

Vice President Alben Barkley and his charming bride see eye to eye on about everything except riding in airplanes.

Barkley takes to the air like a duck to water, can snooze peacefully even during a choppy flight. However, Mrs. Barkley is addicted to airsickness and flatly refuses to fly.

The Veep wanted his lady to accompany him when he took off on his current Democratic barnstorming tour. But it was "no go" when he reported that he was flying. Instead, Mrs. B. entertained for the family hearth in Paducah, Ky.

"I have no desire to become an angel—not yet, anyway," she told a friend.

Farmers' Loss of Mineral Rights

Many farmers still don't know it, but the government has sold the mineral rights out from under some of their farmlands without so much as notifying the owners. The Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation has given outside speculators the right to drill for oil or dig for uranium on hundreds of farms.

This has already started a one-man investigation by Delaware's GOP Senator John Williams, causing the government to reverse its policy and now give the farmer first crack at mineral rights on his own property.

However, many farmers, whose rights have already been sold, do not realize that they have only 50 per cent claim to the oil and uranium that may be lying under their fields. What's more, they probably won't find out until the speculators show up on the farms to drill.

These farms were the ones that went bankrupt during the depression. In most cases, the government took over the mortgages and later resold the farms. However, it was usually written into the small print that the government retained 50 per cent of the mineral rights.

Later, when traces of oil were discovered near these farms, the government began selling the mineral rights behind the farmers' backs.

For example, Elmer P. Johnson bought a 160-acre depression farm from the government in Oceana County, Michigan, in 1938. The government reserved half the mineral rights, then sold half of its rights 10 years later to Augie Busk of Grand Rapids, Mich., for $800. Exactly seven days after the sale, the Roosevelt Oil Company struck oil on Johnson's farm. Over night, the value of Busk's new mineral rights shot up from $800 to $8,000.

Another Oceana county farmer, Paul Weiner, reported his trouble over mineral rights to Senator Williams.

"I was not notified of the lease nor of the sale of these mineral rights, nor did I even know that the government had retained one-half of the mineral rights until February 24, 1949, when someone tried to secure a lease from me for the other one-half in order to drill for oil," Weiner wrote.

Even more shocking, a group of government insiders formed an investment pool in St. Louis and bought up mineral rights from their own agency.

They were W. H. Droste, W. R. Frankhanel, H. W. Snodgrass, J. L. Barrett and D. M. Hardy—all high officials in the St. Louis Federal Land Bank. As such, they were in a position to get inside information.

While these men were hired to help the farmers, they bought the farmers mineral rights for their own profit instead.

Labor Plays Dual Role In Election Campaigning

By MARK SULLIVAN

TWO CONDITIONS operating conjointly have major places in the state of the nation and the mind of the people. One is high and rising cost of living. About that, everybody is concerned. The other condition is the campaign for a new Congress, to be elected less than three weeks from now. That also is in everybody's mind.

In this conjunction is a strange phenomenon, the double role played by leaders and spokesmen of organized labor. As labor leaders they are aggressively active in making demands for wage raises, which when in effect must result in increased cost of manufacturing, hence in most cases, higher prices of goods, hence increased cost of living. Simultaneously the labor heads take a role of political leadership in the Congressional campaign. As political leaders they ask the people to vote upon measures and candidates as the leaders urge; especially they ask the people to vote against candidates whom the leaders disapprove, as illustrated by the conspicuous case of Sen. Taft of Ohio.

One wonders if the labor leaders and spokesmen recognized the incongruity of their dual activity—demand by them for wage raises certain to result in higher cost of living which the people do not want, and simultaneous appeal by them to the people to vote in the Congressional election as the labor spokesmen urge. If the incongruity is recognized by voters generally, the effect on the outcome of the election could be the opposite of what the labor leaders desire.

Activity Is Cited

In any event the activity of labor leaders in the present campaign is an extraordinary phenomenon. Both the two great labor organizations have formal allied organizations created for political work — the C.I.O. Political Action Committee and the A.F.L. League for Political Education. The two cooperate and in a large number of states and districts are fused in "Joint Labor Committees." On the state and district level it is tenable to estimate that these political arms of labor are in many cases more minutely organized and more vigorous than the local organizations of the two great political parties.

While the broad aim of the labor political organizations is to achieve power in Congress and generally, specific aims are to a marked extent punitive. While they support a number of proposals, chiefly ones put forward in President Truman's legislative programs, they emphasize appeal to the voters to defeat members of Congress running for re-election who voted against such measures. Their technique is illustrated by a broadside in the A.F.L. "League Reporter" of October 9th, dealing with the vote in the present Congress on President Truman's attempt to bring about repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law. Members of Congress, Democratic or Republican, who voted to "keep" the Taft-Hartley law are put in one list as "labor's enemies"; members who voted to kill the law are in another list as "labor's friends."

Simultaneous Work

In this third week before the election, citizens who read the literature of the labor political organizations, or who meet "doorbell ringing" volunteer workers of these organizations, who urge citizens to register and go to the polls—such citizens can hardly fail to be aware of a simultaneous activity of labor leaders, the demand of the C.I.O. union of steel workers for a wage raise. That such a raise, if granted, will be followed by an increase in the price of steel and of goods containing steel and hence in cost of living, is as inevitable as any relation of economic cause and effect can be. This is not materially modified by the fact that the President now has authority, enacted by Congress last July, to control prices. There was price control by government during 1945-46. But the government was obliged in case after case to recognize that higher wages mean higher cost of manufacture, and that in most cases higher cost of manufacture necessitates higher prices in one degree or another.

It is as certain as the sequence of the seasons that the wage raise recently demanded and got by workers in the textile industries will be followed by higher prices paid by the people for wearing apparel next spring. One current demand for a wage raise is in the important and widespread railroad industry. If this raise takes place we are practically certain to see as a sequence increases in passenger rates and freight rates. Increases in freight rates are an addition to the cost of goods carried by railroads; directly or indirectly they ramify into the prices of nearly everything.

U. S. Action On Formosa Will Await U. N. Course

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—When President Truman said he didn't discuss with General MacArthur any change in the American policy toward Formosa because this was settled four or five weeks ago, the only interpretation possible is that the policy announced at the time the Korean war broke out will remain as it is unless Red China disturbs it.

The American attitude, as announced in June, was that the United States would neutralize Formosa and keep it out of the fighting. There has been no change on that point. What was widely construed as a hint of change occurred when Mr. Truman told his press conference recently that the U. S. Seventh Fleet would be withdrawn after the fighting in Korea is over.

But the posible withdrawal of the fleet was never intended to mean that America was inviting the Nationalists and the Communists in China to resume fighting in Formosa.

When Mr. Truman was asked at his press confernce yesterday whether the United States would defend Formosa pending a determination by the United Nations as to what should be done about the future of the island, he said that this was a river we have not come to yet.

May Take A Year

This really furnishes the key to the whole Formosan policy. For it means that the existing situation will be maintained—American naval forces will continue to protect the island until the United Nations takes over the job or until it is considered safe for all naval forces to withdraw. But at no time would American naval forces be far away from Formosan waters even if actually withdrawn from duty in the immediate vicinity of the island.

Meanwhile, a United Nations committee will struggle with the problem. It may take a year before a final plan can be presented to the Assembly. It is hoped here that in the intervening months Communist China will do nothing to complicate matters.

The Communist regime in China takes the view that it has the right to acquire Formosa. Certainly it was the intention of the United States at one time to agree that China should have it, but, since the Reds in China have made common cause with the Reds in Moscow, the American government cannot but look with grave concern on the presence of hostile forces in and around Formosa. There is no disagreement with General MacArthur that Formosa must not be allowed to fall into the hands of any power hostile to the United States.

Whether or not the future government of China will be hostile to the United States depends on developments in the next few months. During a period of probation the status quo can be maintained.

Awaiting Developments

So, all in all, what the President is saying is that there is nothing to be done about the defense of Formosa that has not already been announced. The views of General MacArthur on the importance of Formosa from a military standpoint have been taken into account. What will happen from the standpoint of the U. N. in admitting Red China or from the viewpoint of the United States Government when it comes to a question of diplomatic recognition are points yet to be determined. As often happens in government, policies are held in abeyance awaiting developments. That's why the President could say that the Formosan policy was settled weeks ago—it was settled in the sense that all parties within our government decided to do nothing to change the situation but to wait till the U. N. has outlined a course of action.

John Foster Dulles, who is familiar with the MacArthur views and those of the Department of State, is quietly working out a formula to present to one of the committees of the United Nations. When that is done, the next step may well be some means of assuring that there will be no fighting in and around Formosa while the subject is under consideration by the U. N. If the Reds in China hope to win recognition or a seat on the Security Council, they cannot hope to get it by starting an invasion of Formosa. Likewise, the Nationalists will have to agree to stay on the island without attacking the mainland. Such a solution would, of course, be in line with the MacArthur views.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Presidential Candidates

WHEN Tom Dewey threw Eisenhower's hat in the ring, he only made public what so many say in private, namely, that the General would make a fitting candidate for Republicans to nominate in 1952. For obviously, the Republicans are looking for a candidate who can beat Harry Truman and a few of them believe that the old names that have been around since 1940 will do.

Thomas E. Dewey realistically does not believe that, as things stand today, he can hope to be nominated in 1952, even if he carries the 1950 election overwhelmingly. He knows that too many Republicans, outside New York, would oppose his nomination for the presidency. So, he hands the baton to General Eisenhower.

Harold Stassen is at the present time the most active Republican candidate for the presidency. He is devoted to the cause—too devoted, in fact, and therefore, he occasionally pulls a boner as when he stepped into Dean Acheson's shoes by corresponding with Joe Stalin.

Assuming a leadership which is vacant, Stassen is making progress because he is interesting; he is courageous; he is on the job. He works ardently within the party and with local organizations. Harold Stassen may make enough progress to be the most formidable pre-convention candidate. With Tom Dewey no longer a prospective candidate, Harold Stassen will gain strength.

However, he faces the prospect that Governor James Duff of Pennsylvania, once he is elected to the United States Senate, will give Stassen a fight for the control of the Pennsylvania delegation. Should Dewey control the New York delegation and Duff the Pennsylvania delegation, Stassen will face a very tough situation. It is not altogether impossible that Duff may be a candidate on his own. Duff is a curious individualist who will make a mark in the Senate.

As it stands, General Eisenhower must be regarded as a candidate for the Republican nomination. True, he doesn't say, yes, and he doesn't say, no—which is, at this stage, to be expected. What it amounts to is that there is still talk among his friends that he will not seek the nomination, but that he will have to be drafted.

From a strictly political standpoint, that is a meaningless distinction. No man is drafted unless he or his friends have so organized matters that his nomination is inevitable. He then comes in and makes a speech on how he did not seek the office but the office sought him. That never happens unless somebody was pushing the man into the path of the office.

Thre elements are working a dently for General Eisenhower:

1. Those who admire him to the point of adoration, who believe that he is a great executive, a great diplomat, a grea general—in short, a great man. He has attracted a cult of hero-worshippers.

2. Those who believe that the Republican party cannot win in 1952 unless its candidate is a startlingly brilliant and glamorous personality who can win despite the inadequate popularity of the party.

3. Those who believe that the two-party system is essential to the continuance of the American structure of freedom and who fear that the prolonged tenure of the Democrats is tending to produce a monolithic political system in the United States. They feel that it is necessary for the Republicans to win in 1952, but see no active Republican who can win. Therefore, they would favor Eisenhower because they are convinced that he can break the Democratic spell. Once the two-party system is fully re-established, they hope to develop a new strength for a two-party system.

In the background of all this is the amazing battle which Senator Robert A. Taft is waging in Ohio. That is different from every other election campaign in 1950. The CIO is directing the fight on Taft. His Democratic opponent does not count. He might even have been Joe Doakes or George Spelvin or Frank Costello. What counts is the CIO. That organization is asserting political authority.

Should the CIO succeed in defeating Taft, it will not only increase its dominance over the Democratic party: it will be a factor in the Republican party. Should Taft succeed in being reelected, he will have asserted a strength of tremendous dimensions. He will then be the top figure in the Republican party and a tower of principle.

Naval Readiness

Ever since the late, lamented statements which implied that licking Russia before breakfast would be a cinch, the populace has instinctively ducked when someone high up says the country is "ready" for this or that.

Navy Secretary Matthews has just put himself out on the limb by saying, during a television interview, that the blue water service is primed and cocked. This is worth looking into.

Being "ready" takes in a great deal of territory and requires elaboration. Mr. Matthews obliged by saying that advances are being made in anti-submarine warfare that will rob enemy submersibles of the advantage they enjoy over certain surface vessels. This is a hint that something better than present means of detecting and tracking submarines may have been discovered.

To date the rate of increase in effectiveness of postwar submarines has greatly outstripped the best counter-measures it has been possible to evolve. That the Navy may have developed better sub catching and killing methods isn't cause for too great astonishment, however. This problem has been given top priority since the war.

The bulk of Secretary Matthews' generalizations can be backed with known facts. The Pacific fleet is being reinforced at a rapid rate, and there seems to be no limit to the numerical strength in ships and men that the Navy intends to send afloat over the next few years.

On the basis of the carrier strikes on the Korean Peninsula and the precision work displayed during the amphibious lift to the Inchon beaches it appears that the Navy is taut and hasn't forgotten any of the old plays.

As for the statement that the Navy is "ready for anything" in the Pacific, it can only be hoped that it is not an exaggeration.

End Is Near

With United Nations troops in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, there is a growing belief in Tokyo military circles that the end of fighting in Korea could come in a few weeks. But a long mopping up period may follow.

It has been clear for days that organized resistance could not go on much longer. A prolonged, last-ditch stand by the Communists at Pyongyang was not in the cards.

Some Red soldiers are reported to be retreating northward toward the border. But they will find safety only if they cross it, for they will be pursued. The possibility remains that some survivors will take to the mountains and carry on the war as guerillas. This is a danger that has been heavily stressed because the Communists apparently can count on using Chinese territory as a base of operations. Indications are, however, that this danger has been exaggerated.

Guerilla warfare can be effective against a feeble government, particularly a foreign government. But partisans need more than a base. They must also have the connivance of the civilian population. It is doubtful that the Communists can count on civilian cooperation in Korea.

Furthermore, they will not have weak detachments of foreign troops to deal with. The victors are strong now and will hand over the task, in time, to strong Korean forces.

Vanishing Classes

In England, where socialism has taken firm root, the upper economic class—the management class—is well on the way out. This is accomplished by the simple device of inheritance taxes so high that a capitalist cannot pass his wealth on to his heirs. This tax is more than 80 per cent in the upper brackets.

The two Rootes brothers owned Rootes Motors Ltd., one of the larger British motor car manufacturers. One of the brothers died. Rather than sell the whole company and break it up, shares were offered to the public to raise the money to pay the inheritance tax. This sale transfers control of the company to other hands.

"It was our ambition," said Sir William Rootes, "to build, create and pass on a great world-wide business intact to our sons. After 30 years of hard work we find ourselves in this position."

Socialist policy also wrecks the middle classes, as has been demonstrated often. Here in America, if inflation continues on its present course, the great unorganized masses will be erased because they cannot take in enough dollars to pay their way.

With both the wealthy and the middle classes gone, there would be left only the proletariat and their totalitarian masters. This happened in Russia, it is happening in England, and it is making rapid progress in the United States.

Yugoslavia Speaks Out

"The Soviet policy is undermining the forces of democracy in the world by its persistent tendency to bring every progressive movement under its absolute sway." This might have been said by American Secretary of State Dean Acheson, but was in fact uttered by Edvard Kardelj, the Yugoslav foreign minister, before the United Nations General Assembly.

Yugoslavia is a Communist state, but it recognizes that communism is not the main feature which makes Russia the enemy of the rest of the world. If the Soviet Union let other nations alone instead of trying to conquer them, it would have small cause to fear aggression.

An Artist On Noses

THE NOSE has been scrutinized from every angle. It has been ridiculed and praised by men and women from every walk of life. The organ has many nicknames, comes in a variety of sizes and shapes, and, when it fails to function properly, makes our life miserable.

Dr. Noah D. Fabricant, who has a hobby of collecting material on noses, recently incorporated some interesting aspects of the old proboscis into an article in a reissue of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Monthly. It was entitled, "Of and About the Nose," and he cites the following limerick:

"If he lives where the ozone is rare,
His nose is constricted and spare.
If he breathes air that's humid,
His beak gets tumid
And his nostrils exceedingly flare."

This has considerable anthropological significance because we know that the shape of the nose conforms to climatic conditions. Those who live in colder regions have a narrow nose, whereas the Negro, whose natural habitat was warm and humid, possesses the broadest nose.

•—•—•

It also was amusing to read of the folklore surrounding the old ideas on the cause of nasal itching. To some, it meant "kissing a fool," or was a sign that you are going to be angry, to have company, to get a letter or pleasant news, or that someone is thinking of you.

Leonardo da Vinci's dissertation about the nose also was included. The artist pointed out:

"If you desire to acquire facility in keeping in your mind the expression of a face, first learn by heart the various kinds of heads, eyes, noses, mouths, chins, throats and also necks and shoulders. Take as an instance noses; they are of 10 types: straight, bulbous, hollow, prominent either above or below the center, aquiline, regular, simian, round, and pointed. These divisions hold good as regards profile. Seen from in front, noses are of 12 types: thick in the middle, thin in the middle, with the tip broad, and narrow at the base, and narrow at the tip, and with the openings either visible or hidden by the tip.

"And similarly you will find variety in the other features, of which things you ought to make studies from nature and so fix them in your mind. Or when you have to draw a face from memory, carry with you a small notebook in which you have noted down such features, and then when you have cast a glance at the face of the person whom you wish to draw you can look privately and see which nose or mouth has a resemblance to it, and make a tiny mark against it in order to recognize it again at home. Of abnormal faces I here say nothing, for they are kept in mind without difficulty."

A GOOD HEART

M. T. writes: What can be do to take better care of our hearts?

REPLY

This is a large order but the best way to prevent heart disease is to attempt to avoid the cause. This means that we should shun infections, or obtain the proper care when they do exist, and make moderation the keynote of our lives. We cannot do too much about arteriosclerosis, which is one of the most frequent causes of heart disease, because it is a natural sequence to aging. But we know that high blood pressure, obesity, and disorders such as diabetes hasten the process and much can be done to keep these conditions under control if they are recognized early. Furthermore, all men and women past the age of 50 should report to their physicians at periodic intervals for a check and a chance to discuss symptoms that might be cardiac in origin.

No. But it is fatal unless treated properly with liver and vitamin B12.

M. S. writes: Someone told me that the first stage of insanity is forgetfulness. Is this so?

REPLY

No, as most of us begin to develop this symptom in the teens. Furthermore, it is a common belief that with each decade we become more forgetful. After all, we cannot be expected to remember everything; and to forget occasionally is perfectly normal.

Real Heroes In War Drawing Least Pay And Fewest Medals; Mrs. Veep Has No Yen For Flying; Sen. Williams Battling For Farmers

Says DREW PEARSON

ENROUTE — Under the current army pay system, the real heroes in the Korean war are drawing the least pay. They don't even get a fair share of the glory when the publicity and medals are dished out.

These unsung heroes are the infantrymen, who form the army's battering ram, but who are not paid as much as the technical men and pencil pushers behind the lines.

It used to be that infantrymen could collect $10 extra each month for combat work. If they wore the Combat Infantryman's Badge, it was good for a $10 monthly bonus. However, even this has been taken away from them in Korea, despite the fact that combat airmen and submarine men still draw $20 to $75 per month extra for "hazardous duty."

Meanwhile, it's the infantrymen who feel the bite of enemy bullets, who slog through mud, sleep in foxholes and live on cold K rations, who have little chance to take a both sea a movie, attend church, write letters, or sleep with their shoes off.

Nevertheless, in Korea, the average monthly pay of a man in an infantry rifle company is $135, compared with $226 for an air force combat crew man and $172 for a submarine crew.

Highest-paid troops in the army are ordnance men, followed by signal corps, armored force, quartermaster, antiaircraft, field artillery, engineers, medical and, last on the list, the infantry.

It's the same story with other awards. During World War II, infantrymen suffered 70 per cent of the casualties but got only 11.6 per cent of the medals, The air force was decorated with 76.2 per cent of the medals, while other branches got the remaining 12.2 per cent.

Now that the Korean war is nearly won, the army should give fair pay and recognition to the foot soldiers who did the slugging and the slogging.

No Airplanes For Mrs. Veep

Vice President Alben Barkley and his charming bride see eye to eye on about everything except riding in airplanes.

Barkley takes to the air like a duck to water, can snooze peacefully even during a choppy flight. However, Mrs. Barkley is addicted to airsickness and flatly refuses to fly.

The Veep wanted his lady to accompany him when he took off on his current Democratic barnstorming tour. But it was "no go" when he reported that he was flying. Instead, Mrs. B. entertained for the family hearth in Paducah, Ky.

"I have no desire to become an angel—not yet, anyway," she told a friend.

Farmers' Loss of Mineral Rights

Many farmers still don't know it, but the government has sold the mineral rights out from under some of their farmlands without so much as notifying the owners. The Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation has given outside speculators the right to drill for oil or dig for uranium on hundreds of farms.

This has already started a one-man investigation by Delaware's GOP Senator John Williams, causing the government to reverse its policy and now give the farmer first crack at mineral rights on his own property.

However, many farmers, whose rights have already been sold, do not realize that they have only 50 per cent claim to the oil and uranium that may be lying under their fields. What's more, they probably won't find out until the speculators show up on the farms to drill.

These farms were the ones that went bankrupt during the depression. In most cases, the government took over the mortgages and later resold the farms. However, it was usually written into the small print that the government retained 50 per cent of the mineral rights.

Later, when traces of oil were discovered near these farms, the government began selling the mineral rights behind the farmers' backs.

For example, Elmer P. Johnson bought a 160-acre depression farm from the government in Oceana County, Michigan, in 1938. The government reserved half the mineral rights, then sold half of its rights 10 years later to Augie Busk of Grand Rapids, Mich., for $800. Exactly seven days after the sale, the Roosevelt Oil Company struck oil on Johnson's farm. Over night, the value of Busk's new mineral rights shot up from $800 to $8,000.

Another Oceana county farmer, Paul Weiner, reported his trouble over mineral rights to Senator Williams.

"I was not notified of the lease nor of the sale of these mineral rights, nor did I even know that the government had retained one-half of the mineral rights until February 24, 1949, when someone tried to secure a lease from me for the other one-half in order to drill for oil," Weiner wrote.

Even more shocking, a group of government insiders formed an investment pool in St. Louis and bought up mineral rights from their own agency.

They were W. H. Droste, W. R. Frankhanel, H. W. Snodgrass, J. L. Barrett and D. M. Hardy—all high officials in the St. Louis Federal Land Bank. As such, they were in a position to get inside information.

While these men were hired to help the farmers, they bought the farmers mineral rights for their own profit instead.

Labor Plays Dual Role In Election Campaigning

By MARK SULLIVAN

TWO CONDITIONS operating conjointly have major places in the state of the nation and the mind of the people. One is high and rising cost of living. About that, everybody is concerned. The other condition is the campaign for a new Congress, to be elected less than three weeks from now. That also is in everybody's mind.

In this conjunction is a strange phenomenon, the double role played by leaders and spokesmen of organized labor. As labor leaders they are aggressively active in making demands for wage raises, which when in effect must result in increased cost of manufacturing, hence in most cases, higher prices of goods, hence increased cost of living. Simultaneously the labor heads take a role of political leadership in the Congressional campaign. As political leaders they ask the people to vote upon measures and candidates as the leaders urge; especially they ask the people to vote against candidates whom the leaders disapprove, as illustrated by the conspicuous case of Sen. Taft of Ohio.

One wonders if the labor leaders and spokesmen recognized the incongruity of their dual activity—demand by them for wage raises certain to result in higher cost of living which the people do not want, and simultaneous appeal by them to the people to vote in the Congressional election as the labor spokesmen urge. If the incongruity is recognized by voters generally, the effect on the outcome of the election could be the opposite of what the labor leaders desire.

Activity Is Cited

In any event the activity of labor leaders in the present campaign is an extraordinary phenomenon. Both the two great labor organizations have formal allied organizations created for political work — the C.I.O. Political Action Committee and the A.F.L. League for Political Education. The two cooperate and in a large number of states and districts are fused in "Joint Labor Committees." On the state and district level it is tenable to estimate that these political arms of labor are in many cases more minutely organized and more vigorous than the local organizations of the two great political parties.

While the broad aim of the labor political organizations is to achieve power in Congress and generally, specific aims are to a marked extent punitive. While they support a number of proposals, chiefly ones put forward in President Truman's legislative programs, they emphasize appeal to the voters to defeat members of Congress running for re-election who voted against such measures. Their technique is illustrated by a broadside in the A.F.L. "League Reporter" of October 9th, dealing with the vote in the present Congress on President Truman's attempt to bring about repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law. Members of Congress, Democratic or Republican, who voted to "keep" the Taft-Hartley law are put in one list as "labor's enemies"; members who voted to kill the law are in another list as "labor's friends."

Simultaneous Work

In this third week before the election, citizens who read the literature of the labor political organizations, or who meet "doorbell ringing" volunteer workers of these organizations, who urge citizens to register and go to the polls—such citizens can hardly fail to be aware of a simultaneous activity of labor leaders, the demand of the C.I.O. union of steel workers for a wage raise. That such a raise, if granted, will be followed by an increase in the price of steel and of goods containing steel and hence in cost of living, is as inevitable as any relation of economic cause and effect can be. This is not materially modified by the fact that the President now has authority, enacted by Congress last July, to control prices. There was price control by government during 1945-46. But the government was obliged in case after case to recognize that higher wages mean higher cost of manufacture, and that in most cases higher cost of manufacture necessitates higher prices in one degree or another.

It is as certain as the sequence of the seasons that the wage raise recently demanded and got by workers in the textile industries will be followed by higher prices paid by the people for wearing apparel next spring. One current demand for a wage raise is in the important and widespread railroad industry. If this raise takes place we are practically certain to see as a sequence increases in passenger rates and freight rates. Increases in freight rates are an addition to the cost of goods carried by railroads; directly or indirectly they ramify into the prices of nearly everything.

U. S. Action On Formosa Will Await U. N. Course

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—When President Truman said he didn't discuss with General MacArthur any change in the American policy toward Formosa because this was settled four or five weeks ago, the only interpretation possible is that the policy announced at the time the Korean war broke out will remain as it is unless Red China disturbs it.

The American attitude, as announced in June, was that the United States would neutralize Formosa and keep it out of the fighting. There has been no change on that point. What was widely construed as a hint of change occurred when Mr. Truman told his press conference recently that the U. S. Seventh Fleet would be withdrawn after the fighting in Korea is over.

But the posible withdrawal of the fleet was never intended to mean that America was inviting the Nationalists and the Communists in China to resume fighting in Formosa.

When Mr. Truman was asked at his press confernce yesterday whether the United States would defend Formosa pending a determination by the United Nations as to what should be done about the future of the island, he said that this was a river we have not come to yet.

May Take A Year

This really furnishes the key to the whole Formosan policy. For it means that the existing situation will be maintained—American naval forces will continue to protect the island until the United Nations takes over the job or until it is considered safe for all naval forces to withdraw. But at no time would American naval forces be far away from Formosan waters even if actually withdrawn from duty in the immediate vicinity of the island.

Meanwhile, a United Nations committee will struggle with the problem. It may take a year before a final plan can be presented to the Assembly. It is hoped here that in the intervening months Communist China will do nothing to complicate matters.

The Communist regime in China takes the view that it has the right to acquire Formosa. Certainly it was the intention of the United States at one time to agree that China should have it, but, since the Reds in China have made common cause with the Reds in Moscow, the American government cannot but look with grave concern on the presence of hostile forces in and around Formosa. There is no disagreement with General MacArthur that Formosa must not be allowed to fall into the hands of any power hostile to the United States.

Whether or not the future government of China will be hostile to the United States depends on developments in the next few months. During a period of probation the status quo can be maintained.

Awaiting Developments

So, all in all, what the President is saying is that there is nothing to be done about the defense of Formosa that has not already been announced. The views of General MacArthur on the importance of Formosa from a military standpoint have been taken into account. What will happen from the standpoint of the U. N. in admitting Red China or from the viewpoint of the United States Government when it comes to a question of diplomatic recognition are points yet to be determined. As often happens in government, policies are held in abeyance awaiting developments. That's why the President could say that the Formosan policy was settled weeks ago—it was settled in the sense that all parties within our government decided to do nothing to change the situation but to wait till the U. N. has outlined a course of action.

John Foster Dulles, who is familiar with the MacArthur views and those of the Department of State, is quietly working out a formula to present to one of the committees of the United Nations. When that is done, the next step may well be some means of assuring that there will be no fighting in and around Formosa while the subject is under consideration by the U. N. If the Reds in China hope to win recognition or a seat on the Security Council, they cannot hope to get it by starting an invasion of Formosa. Likewise, the Nationalists will have to agree to stay on the island without attacking the mainland. Such a solution would, of course, be in line with the MacArthur views.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Presidential Candidates

WHEN Tom Dewey threw Eisenhower's hat in the ring, he only made public what so many say in private, namely, that the General would make a fitting candidate for Republicans to nominate in 1952. For obviously, the Republicans are looking for a candidate who can beat Harry Truman and a few of them believe that the old names that have been around since 1940 will do.

Thomas E. Dewey realistically does not believe that, as things stand today, he can hope to be nominated in 1952, even if he carries the 1950 election overwhelmingly. He knows that too many Republicans, outside New York, would oppose his nomination for the presidency. So, he hands the baton to General Eisenhower.

Harold Stassen is at the present time the most active Republican candidate for the presidency. He is devoted to the cause—too devoted, in fact, and therefore, he occasionally pulls a boner as when he stepped into Dean Acheson's shoes by corresponding with Joe Stalin.

Assuming a leadership which is vacant, Stassen is making progress because he is interesting; he is courageous; he is on the job. He works ardently within the party and with local organizations. Harold Stassen may make enough progress to be the most formidable pre-convention candidate. With Tom Dewey no longer a prospective candidate, Harold Stassen will gain strength.

However, he faces the prospect that Governor James Duff of Pennsylvania, once he is elected to the United States Senate, will give Stassen a fight for the control of the Pennsylvania delegation. Should Dewey control the New York delegation and Duff the Pennsylvania delegation, Stassen will face a very tough situation. It is not altogether impossible that Duff may be a candidate on his own. Duff is a curious individualist who will make a mark in the Senate.

As it stands, General Eisenhower must be regarded as a candidate for the Republican nomination. True, he doesn't say, yes, and he doesn't say, no—which is, at this stage, to be expected. What it amounts to is that there is still talk among his friends that he will not seek the nomination, but that he will have to be drafted.

From a strictly political standpoint, that is a meaningless distinction. No man is drafted unless he or his friends have so organized matters that his nomination is inevitable. He then comes in and makes a speech on how he did not seek the office but the office sought him. That never happens unless somebody was pushing the man into the path of the office.

Thre elements are working a dently for General Eisenhower:

1. Those who admire him to the point of adoration, who believe that he is a great executive, a great diplomat, a grea general—in short, a great man. He has attracted a cult of hero-worshippers.

2. Those who believe that the Republican party cannot win in 1952 unless its candidate is a startlingly brilliant and glamorous personality who can win despite the inadequate popularity of the party.

3. Those who believe that the two-party system is essential to the continuance of the American structure of freedom and who fear that the prolonged tenure of the Democrats is tending to produce a monolithic political system in the United States. They feel that it is necessary for the Republicans to win in 1952, but see no active Republican who can win. Therefore, they would favor Eisenhower because they are convinced that he can break the Democratic spell. Once the two-party system is fully re-established, they hope to develop a new strength for a two-party system.

In the background of all this is the amazing battle which Senator Robert A. Taft is waging in Ohio. That is different from every other election campaign in 1950. The CIO is directing the fight on Taft. His Democratic opponent does not count. He might even have been Joe Doakes or George Spelvin or Frank Costello. What counts is the CIO. That organization is asserting political authority.

Should the CIO succeed in defeating Taft, it will not only increase its dominance over the Democratic party: it will be a factor in the Republican party. Should Taft succeed in being reelected, he will have asserted a strength of tremendous dimensions. He will then be the top figure in the Republican party and a tower of principle.

Moslems Are Told Aid To Common Man Is Only Base For Stability

By ROBERT HEWETT

TEHRAN, (AP) — Moslem countries of the Middle East and Asia — long run on feudal lines by wealthy landlords and tribal chieftains — are planning to do something for their poverty stricken millions.

Ghulam Mohammed, blunt speaking finance minister of Pakistan, brought the problem to the fore at the 11-nation International Islamic Economic Conference which ended last week.

"The common man has so far hardly figured in the economic or political thinking of Moslem countries but, nevertheless, it is he who is the backbone of our strength," declared Mohammed, who presided over the conference.

"He has been the victim of neglect so far, but we cannot afford to neglect him any longer. Unless the living standards — and at present there are none worth the name — of our people are raised, and they are made free from fear of want, we must realize that we can have no political, social or economic stability."

The Islamic economic organization was formed last year in Karachi to provide a means of joint action in attacking problems hamstringing prosperity in this underdeveloped section of the world.

At this year's second conference economic experts from 11 Moslem nations ranging from Egypt to Indonesia decided to set up regional planning committees to pool resources of various areas and cooperate in mutual development.

Other recommendations included:

Establishment of an international Islamic bank or a clearing center to settle foreign exchange balances.

Organization of an institute of economics to collect and disseminate economic information of value to member countries.

Cooperation in reforming land tenure laws and developing agriculture.

Foster improvement in labor conditions.

Mohammed was re-elected president of the organization for a three-year term. Momtaz Kavalcioglu of Turkey was elected treasurer.

The organization decided to hold next year's conference in Damascus, Syria.

RFC Purchases May Cut Whisky Output

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The government plans to start buying alcohol from whisky distillers early in December to feed the reactivated synthetic rubber plants, officials disclosed last night.

The extent, if any, to which the Reconstruction Finance Corporations' purchases will cut into beverage spirits output could not be ascertained from sources immediately available.

Representatives of 14 major distillers conferred with RFC rubber officials today, a spokesman for the government corporation said.

The United States government sells copies for 25 cents each of any patent it issues.

Moslems Are Told Aid To Common Man Is Only Base For Stability

By ROBERT HEWETT

TEHRAN, (AP) — Moslem countries of the Middle East and Asia — long run on feudal lines by wealthy landlords and tribal chieftains — are planning to do something for their poverty stricken millions.

Ghulam Mohammed, blunt speaking finance minister of Pakistan, brought the problem to the fore at the 11-nation International Islamic Economic Conference which ended last week.

"The common man has so far hardly figured in the economic or political thinking of Moslem countries but, nevertheless, it is he who is the backbone of our strength," declared Mohammed, who presided over the conference.

"He has been the victim of neglect so far, but we cannot afford to neglect him any longer. Unless the living standards — and at present there are none worth the name — of our people are raised, and they are made free from fear of want, we must realize that we can have no political, social or economic stability."

The Islamic economic organization was formed last year in Karachi to provide a means of joint action in attacking problems hamstringing prosperity in this underdeveloped section of the world.

At this year's second conference economic experts from 11 Moslem nations ranging from Egypt to Indonesia decided to set up regional planning committees to pool resources of various areas and cooperate in mutual development.

Other recommendations included:

Establishment of an international Islamic bank or a clearing center to settle foreign exchange balances.

Organization of an institute of economics to collect and disseminate economic information of value to member countries.

Cooperation in reforming land tenure laws and developing agriculture.

Foster improvement in labor conditions.

Mohammed was re-elected president of the organization for a three-year term. Momtaz Kavalcioglu of Turkey was elected treasurer.

The organization decided to hold next year's conference in Damascus, Syria.

RFC Purchases May Cut Whisky Output

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The government plans to start buying alcohol from whisky distillers early in December to feed the reactivated synthetic rubber plants, officials disclosed last night.

The extent, if any, to which the Reconstruction Finance Corporations' purchases will cut into beverage spirits output could not be ascertained from sources immediately available.

Representatives of 14 major distillers conferred with RFC rubber officials today, a spokesman for the government corporation said.

The United States government sells copies for 25 cents each of any patent it issues.

Survivors Of Death March Say Scores Of Yanks Died

PYONGYANG, Korea, Oct. 20. (AP)—Three tattered American survivors today said unestimated scores of U. S. prisoners of war "died like flies" on a 160 - mile death march from Seoul to Pyongyang.

The trio said 283 began that horror march, under guard of brutal North Korean Reds. They indicated comparatively few survived, but did not know the number.

The trail of those survivors now leads 150 miles farther north to the Manchurian border.

The three who escaped said the American prisoners were beaten and shot by the Reds . . . strafed mistakenly by an American pilot who thought they were a Red army column—exposed, starved and given no medical attention.

The surviving prisoners may include 90 others who made an original total of 733 moved north from Seoul. Those still alive were shipped north of Pyongyang on Oct. 14—only five days before the arrival of liberating forces.

The fate of Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, missing commander of the U. S. 24th Division, remained a mystery.

The three survivors today said they were told in Seoul that Gen. Dean was in Pyongyang. But in this Red capital they were told Dean had died in Seoul. There was no confirmation of either report.

(U. S. Defense department casualty reports list 4,260 Americans missing in action)

The trio of bearded escapees said three or four Russians visited the American prisoners in Pyongyang. "They just kind of smiled," the three ex-prisoners told correspondents, but did not speak.

Atrocity reports swelled. The commander in chief of the South Korean army, Maj. Gen. Il Kwon, said in Seoul that 80 political prisoners had been burned alive with flaming gasoline—only three days ago.

The massacre took place Tuesday at Koksan, 50 air miles southeast of Pyongyang. The pitiful charred bodies were viewed also by Maj. James H. Houseman, an American military adviser to the General.

The three liberated Americans, long-haired, bedraggled, but happy—are Air Force Capt. William Locke, 30, Enfield, N. C. whose wife and daughter are at High Point, N. C.; Army Lt. Alexander Macaroumis, 27, Lowell, Mass., and Sgt. Takeshi Kumagai, Honolulu.

Portugal has been an independent state since the Twelfth Century.

Take Advantage Of Your Heritage . . . . . Freedom Of Worship!

In the clutches of THE LAW and he doesn't know why

Most of the teen-age youngsters who run afoul of the law do not know why!

They can hardly be expected to realize that a lack of proper moral and religious training has left them ill-equipped for honest, decent living.

In many cases, their parents did not give them the advantage of religious education in the Church. And so, all their lives they may have to pay the penalty of their parent's neglect.

Juvenile Delinquency is hard to cure, but it is easy to prevent. The Church, with the support and cooperation of faithful parents, can equip every child with the sure foundation of Christian truth.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

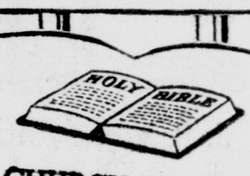
In the clutches of THE LAW and he doesn't know why

Most of the teen-age youngsters who run afoul of the law do not know why!

They can hardly be expected to realize that a lack of proper moral and religious training has left them ill-equipped for honest, decent living.

In many cases, their parents did not give them the advantage of religious education in the Church. And so, all their lives they may have to pay the penalty of their parent's neglect.

Juvenile Delinquency is hard to cure, but it is easy to prevent. The Church, with the support and cooperation of faithful parents, can equip every child with the sure foundation of Christian truth.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Republicans Hold Big Advantage In Registration

The Republican party still has a sizeable majority over the Democrats according to figures obtained from the registrars of the county's 78 polling places following the recent registrations.

Patrick F. King, clerk of the Board of Election Supervisors, said the registration shows 22,999 Republicans and 17,978 Democrats, or a Republican bulge of 6,021. A number of others declined to state a party preference.

After the last registrations, in 1948, there were 23,733 Republicans and 17,680 Democrats, more than the figure for this year.

King said that the new figures are the actual totals of registered voters and the ratio between the Republican and Democratic voters remains about the same as in recent years.

A total of 5,700 names were stricken from the poll books several months ago. These included persons who died and voters who failed to exercise their franchise during the previous five years.

Many of the voters who had failed to vote during the past five years had their names replaced on the books during the several registration days.

Applicants For City Tests Total Only Eight

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery has reported that only eight persons have taken out papers for four city civil service examinations next month.

Tests for police, public health nurse, junior stenographer and central records clerk in the police department are to be given simultaneously Tuesday, November 7, at Fort Hill High School, starting at 7 p. m. The deadline for filing with Ullery is November 1 at 6 p. m.

Four men have signified their intentions of taking the police examination and four for central records clerk. There are no applicants so far for city health nurse and junior stenographer.

Abuse At County Home Is Charged

Reiteration of charges made October 10 by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from several women who charged "neglect and mistreatment" of patients at county home.

A new development was the appearance of Mrs. Alice Heinrich, who said she had been employed at the county home until two years ago. She repeated charges that patients had been "mistreated" and contended abusive language had been addressed to patients by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, custodians.

Commissioner Lemmert, who presided in the absence of Board President Charles N. Wilkinson, said the board lacked jurisdiction in examination of patients or their subsequent admission to Sylvan Retreat.

Mrs. Graydon S. Dunlap said a relative by marriage was "mistreated" at the home and contended an examination by doctors as to her condition was not conducted in a completely professional manner.

First to testify was Mrs. Minnie B. Wilson, who was discharged by Smith allegedly for not performing her duties satisfactorily. The board informed her a previous hearing justified the action.

Another witness, Geraldine Varner, said her aunt was mistreated.

On the other hand a letter to the county board from Mr. and Mrs. George W. McLuckie, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas, Frostburg, observed that the patients had received good treatment. These couples said they had visited the county home frequently since 1945 and were impressed with the good treatment and care given patients.

At one point Lemmert said that he and Commissioner James Holmes believe the best of care is given county home patients. Holmes was quoted as saying "Allegany county has the best facilities in Maryland for the aged and mentally ill."

Sanctuary To Reopen Sunday

Kingsley Methodist Church will have a special service tomorrow to mark the reopening of the sanctuary after several weeks of extensive remodeling and renovation, Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor, has announced.

Dr. William F. Wright, superintendent of the Hagerstown District of the Baltimore Conference, will lead the congregation in the consecration ceremonies at 11 a. m. He will also preach the sermon.

The Youth Choir of the church will sing "Bless This House" and the Senior Choir will present "Praise the Lord, Oh Jerusalem."

At the 7:30 p. m. service Rev. John Bayley Jones, pastor of the Frostburg Methodist Church, will speak. Both choirs will also present programs.

The remodeling work underway during the past few weeks includes the carpeting of the entire floor of the sanctuary, painting of the interior, installation of new pews, new pulpit furnishings and the erection of a divided chancel.

Republicans Hold Big Advantage In Registration

The Republican party still has a sizeable majority over the Democrats according to figures obtained from the registrars of the county's 78 polling places following the recent registrations.

Patrick F. King, clerk of the Board of Election Supervisors, said the registration shows 22,999 Republicans and 16,978 Democrats, or a Republican bulge of 6,021. A number of others declined to state a party preference.

After the last registrations, in 1948, there were 23,733 Republicans and 17,680 Democrats, more than the figure for this year.

King said that the new figures are the actual totals of registered voters and the ratio between the Republican and Democratic voters remains about the same as in recent years.

A total of 5,700 names were stricken from the poll books several months ago. These included persons who died and voters who failed to exercise their franchise during the previous five years.

Many of the voters who had failed to vote during the past five years had their names replaced on the books during the several registration days.

Applicants For City Tests Total Only Eight

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery has reported that only eight persons have taken out papers for four city civil service examinations next month.

Tests for police, public health nurse, junior stenographer and central records clerk in the police department are to be given simultaneously Tuesday, November 7, at Fort Hill High School, starting at 7 p. m. The deadline for filing with Ullery is November 1 at 6 p. m.

Four men have signified their intentions of taking the police examination and four for central records clerk. There are no applicants so far for city health nurse and junior stenographer.

Abuse At County Home Is Charged

Reiteration of charges made October 10 by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from several women who charged "neglect and mistreatment" of patients at county home.

A new development was the appearance of Mrs. Alice Heinrich, who said she had been employed at the county home until two years ago. She repeated charges that patients had been "mistreated" and contended abusive language had been addressed to patients by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, custodians.

Commissioner Lemmert, who presided in the absence of Board President Charles N. Wilkinson, said the board lacked jurisdiction in examination of patients or their subsequent admission to Sylvan Retreat.

Mrs. Graydon S. Dunlap said a relative by marriage was "mistreated" at the home and contended an examination by doctors as to her condition was not conducted in a completely professional manner.

First to testify was Mrs. Minnie B. Wilson, who was discharged by Smith allegedly for not performing her duties satisfactorily. The board informed her a previous hearing justified the action.

Another witness, Geraldine Varner, said her aunt was mistreated.

On the other hand a letter to the county board from Mr. and Mrs. George W. McLuckie, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas, Frostburg, observed that the patients had received good treatment. These couples said they had visited the county home frequently since 1945 and were impressed with the good treatment and care given patients.

At one point Lemmert said that he and Commissioner James Holmes believe the best of care is given county home patients. Holmes was quoted as saying "Allegany county has the best facilities in Maryland for the aged and mentally ill."

Sanctuary To Reopen Sunday

Kingsley Methodist Church will have a special service tomorrow to mark the reopening of the sanctuary after several weeks of extensive remodeling and renovation, Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor, has announced.

Dr. William F. Wright, superintendent of the Hagerstown District of the Baltimore Conference, will lead the congregation in the consecration ceremonies at 11 a. m. He will also preach the sermon.

The Youth Choir of the church will sing "Bless This House" and the Senior Choir will present "Praise the Lord, Oh Jerusalem."

At the 7:30 p. m. service Rev. John Bayley Jones, pastor of the Frostburg Methodist Church, will speak. Both choirs will also present programs.

The remodeling work underway during the past few weeks includes the carpeting of the entire floor of the sanctuary, painting of the interior, installation of new pews, new pulpit furnishings and the erection of a divided chancel.

Kelly-Springfield Certain To Feel Rubber Curb

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here undoubtedly will feel the pinch of the government's 25 per cent cut in natural rubber use by tire and rubber companies, effective November 1.

Consumption will be limited to 75 per cent of the average monthly use of natural rubber in the 12-month period preceding last June 30. The regulation, issued by the National Production Authority (NPA), provides a cut to 63 percent of the base period in December. A Kelly spokesman indicated uncertainty over how the regulation will be felt here.

The order also:

1. Limits the use of total new rubber—both natural and synthetic—to 84 per cent of the monthly average in the year prior to June 30.

2. Restricts the use of latex in this quarter — October, November and December—to one fourth of the consumption in the same base year. This, in effect, restricts current usage to the average of the base year.

3. Requires importers of rubber latex to offer at least 10 per cent of the shipments to the government's General Services Administration for federal stockpile purchases at current market prices.

4. Transfers to NPA the responsibility for formal allocation of government-produced synthetic rubber. Synthetic has been handled informally up to this time by the Office of Rubber Reserve in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. No change in present selling procedures is expected.

Minnicks Gets Suspended Sentence In City Case

Clarence Minnicks, of Valley Road, an inn operator, was found guilty of the violation of the city's alcoholic beverage ordinance yesterday in Police Court and given a suspended sentence.

Thursday, he pleaded guilty before Associate Judge George Henderson on a Circuit Court charge and was given a 60-day jail term and a $100 fine.

Both court cases resulted from Minnicks being arrested September 25 at his establishment, Glenora Inn, Valley Road, for the illegal sale of whiskey.

Minnicks was indicted by the grand jury of this term of Circuit Court. The trial yesterday morning was on the city charge.

Leader Of Coal Operators Friend Of John L. Lewis

Harry M. Moses John L. Lewis

By JOANNE MILLIGAN
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—On a June afternoon in 1941, a sedan pulled up at the side of a little combination filling station-eating place near Breezewood on the Pennsylvania turnpike. Shortly afterward, a convertible stopped nearby.

The drivers got out, shook hands and sat down on the running board of the convertible where they carried on a long conversation. Then the two men stood up and entered the restaurant.

Everybody in the diner recognized John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, as he sat down at the counter. The man who paid for the union leader's coke was a stranger.

"Who is he?"—the question asked nine years ago by a handful of people in a public eating house—is being repeated with increasing interest today about the same man.

"He" is 53-year-old Harry Morgan Moses who has taken on the job of facing Lewis as a permanent collective bargaining spokesman for the newly-organized Bituminous Coal Operators' association with headquarters in Washington.

• — • — •

The informal bargaining powwow at Breezewood came about while Moses was president and spokesman of the H. C. Frick Coke Company in Pittsburgh.

"We didn't agree on anything," Moses recalls.

For the first time in soft coal history, operators representing 153,000,000 tons of production have united to put up a solid front against John Lewis.

Heretofore, the various coal associations named temporary negotiating committees which were disbanded at the end of the wage conferences. The lack of system allowed Lewis to pit one group against the other to the mine chief's advantage.

Moses often was appointed to a negotiating committee while he was president of the Frick company and he has faced Lewis many times across the bargaining table.

The coal men's new full-time leader is a big, likeable veteran of World War I with a reputation for toughness. He also is a personal friend of Lewis. The latter not only knew Harry as a youngster but was a dear friend of Harry's father.

Because of this, Moses is on much better terms with Lewis than most of the operators but neither lets the friendship stand in the way of shrewd bargaining.

Once Lewis made a speech before an audience which included Moses. The union president thundered on about the "martyred miners." Suddenly he pointed an accusing finger at Moses and said sorrowfully:

"You, Harry Moses, what would your poor old crippled father, a veteran of many a mine accident, say if he could be here? He would be ashamed of you!"

• — • — •

"What made me so mad," Moses comments, "was that father's limp didn't have a thing to do with a mine disaster. He was playing baseball one day and broke his ankle sliding into second base."

When bargaining, Moses never indulges in the histrionics for which Lewis is noted. Not long ago, the UMW president told Moses:

"Harry, I like to negotiate with you because you're always a gentleman."

"John," answered Moses, "you couldn't call either one of us a gentleman."

Moses was born in a mining town, Westville, Ill., the son of a coal miner, the late Thomas M. Moses.

Harry was 10 and Lewis 26 the first time they met. Lewis used to go to Westville to make speeches and he usually dropped in on his friends the Moses' for supper. Neither Harry nor Lewis was impressed with the other.

As Harry says, "I was just another kid to him and I didn't think he was much, either."

• — • — •

Harry Began his career in the mines at the age of 14 as a laborer. He made $2.49 a day. By 1938, he had worked his way up to the Frick presidency.

Moses and Lewis both are big men physically. Moses is nearly six feet tall and weighs 235 pounds. He is married and has four children.

Moses admits he is taking on a difficult job.

"There is no set way to deal with John," he says. "You have to be ready for anything."

Not only must Moses keep a volatile John Lewis in tow but he has to bring cohesion and make it stick to forestall the disunity that is forever popping up among the soft coal operators.

He believes he can do it. If all other signs fail him, he can point to what might be considered a sure-fire omen by the superstitious.

Harry Moses, peacemaker, was born November 11—a date that later became Armistice Day.

Minnicks Gets Suspended Sentence In City Case

Clarence Minnicks, of Valley Road, an inn operator, was found guilty of the violation of the city's alcoholic beverage ordinance yesterday in Police Court and given a suspended sentence.

Thursday, he pleaded guilty before Associate Judge George Henderson on a Circuit Court charge and was given a 60-day jail term and a $100 fine.

Both court cases resulted from Minnicks being arrested September 25 at his establishment, Glenora Inn, Valley Road, for the illegal sale of whiskey.

Minnicks was indicted by the grand jury of this term of Circuit Court. The trial yesterday morning was on the city charge.

Leader Of Coal Operators Friend Of John L. Lewis

Harry M. Moses — John L. Lewis

By JOANNE MILLIGAN
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—On a June afternoon in 1941, a sedan pulled up at the side of a little combination filling station-eating place near Breezewood on the Pennsylvania turnpike. Shortly afterward, a convertible stopped nearby.

The drivers got out, shook hands and sat down on the running board of the convertible where they carried on a long conversation. Then the two men stood up and entered the restaurant.

Everybody in the diner recognized John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, as he sat down at the counter. The man who paid for the union leader's coke was a stranger.

"Who is he?"—the question asked nine years ago by a handful of people in a public eating house—is being repeated with increasing interest today about the same man.

"He" is 53-year-old Harry Morgan Moses who has taken on the job of facing Lewis as a permanent collective bargaining spokesman for the newly-organized Bituminous Coal Operators' association with headquarters in Washington.

• — • — •

The informal bargaining powwow at Breezewood came about while Moses was president and spokesman of the H. C. Frick Coke Company in Pittsburgh.

"We didn't agree on anything," Moses recalls.

For the first time in soft coal history, operators representing 153,000,000 tons of production have united to put up a solid front against John Lewis.

Heretofore, the various coal associations named temporary negotiating committees which were disbanded at the end of the wage conferences. The lack of system allowed Lewis to pit one group against the other to the mine chief's advantage.

Moses often was appointed to a negotiating committee while he was president of the Frick company and he has faced Lewis many times across the bargaining table.

The coal men's new full-time leader is a big, likeable veteran of World War I with a reputation for toughness. He also is a personal friend of Lewis. The latter not only knew Harry as a youngster but was a dear friend of Harry's father.

Because of this, Moses is on much better terms with Lewis than most of the operators but neither lets the friendship stand in the way of shrewd bargaining.

Once Lewis made a speech before an audience which included Moses. The union president thundered on about the "martyred miners." Suddenly he pointed an accusing finger at Moses and said sorrowfully:

"You, Harry Moses, what would your poor old crippled father, a veteran of many a mine accident, say if he could be here? He would be ashamed of you!"

• — • — •

"What made me so mad," Moses comments, "was that father's limp didn't have a thing to do with a mine disaster. He was playing baseball one day and broke his ankle sliding into second base."

When bargaining, Moses never indulges in the histrionics for which Lewis is noted. Not long ago, the UMW president told Moses:

"Harry, I like to negotiate with you because you're always a gentleman."

"John," answered Moses, "you couldn't call either one of us a gentleman."

Moses was born in a mining town, Westville, Ill., the son of a coal miner, the late Thomas M. Moses.

Harry was 10 and Lewis 26 the first time they met. Lewis used to go to Westville to make speeches and he usually dropped in on his friends the Moses' for supper. Neither Harry nor Lewis was impressed with the other.

As Harry says, "I was just another kid to him and I didn't think he was much, either."

• — • — •

Harry Began his career in the mines at the age of 14 as a laborer. He made $2.49 a day. By 1938, he had worked his way up to the Frick presidency.

Moses and Lewis both are big men physically. Moses is nearly six feet tall and weighs 235 pounds. He is married and has four children.

Moses admits he is taking on a difficult job.

"There is no set way to deal with John," he says. "You have to be ready for anything."

Not only must Moses keep a volatile John Lewis in tow but he has to bring cohesion and make it stick to forestall the disunity that is forever popping up among the soft coal operators.

He believes he can do it. If all other signs fail him, he can point to what might be considered a surefire omen by the superstitious.

Harry Moses, peacemaker, was born November 11—a date that later became Armistice Day.

By C. V. BURNS

One week from tonight Cumberland will be honored with a visit by the champion of the world at pocket billiards.

JIMMY CARAS

Jimmy Caras of Upper Darby, Pa., is coming here to give an exhibition of his cue skill at the Scoreboard Billiard Parlor, North Mechanic street.

Caras will devote his show to a demonstration of pocket billiard fundamentals, designed to show the beginner how to approach the game; open his bag of trick shots and amaze his audience with his feat of pocketing rolling balls.

He is the second world's billiard champion scheduled to appear in Cumberland. In bygone days, the late Ralph Greenleaf showed here on two occasions.

Jimmy first broke into the sports spotlight as a lad of 17, when he downed the mighty Ralph Greenleaf in an exhibition match, causing the nation's sports writers to immediately dub him the "boy wonder."

We won the world's title in tournament play in 1936 and downed Erwin Rudolph in a challenge match following the tourney. In 1938 he blasted his way to the title for the second time. Jimmy beat back the challenge of Andrew Ponzi in a special match, at the time Ponzi was at the top of his game.

Last year Caras won the national and world tournaments, the first player to perform this feat in the history of the game.

Cumberlanders who saw Caras perform in a recent exhibition match at Pittsburgh report that Jimmy is an amazing billiardist and is sure to please those who come out to see him in action here next Saturday night.

When Don Saylor rejoined the United States Marines the other day, we learned for the first time that the assistant professional golfer at the Cumberland Country Club had gone through some of the most terrific battles of the Second World War and 85 per cent of the Fourth Marine Division in which he served was wiped out by the Japs.

We've talked to Saylor many times since he came to the Country Club two years ago but never did he mention that he was in the thick of it in the Pacific and was lucky to be alive.

After Saylor left town for Camp Lejeune, "Stony" Jackson came in from the club one evening and gave us the lowdown on Don. In fact, "Stony" thought so much of Don that he suggested we use the latter's picture.

We learned that Saylor was in the Marines when the war broke out. Among the places he saw action were Saipan, Tinian and Iwo Jima. Once he had his ear torn loose. It was patched up and he was sent back into action.

It was at Saipan that a blast concussion from an exploding Jap hand grenade blinded Saylor in both eyes and he was in a hospital for 30 days before he regained his sight.

Nerves were transferred from his leg in an effort to build up his eyelids and it was necessary to use a steel brace on one of them. A drooping eyelid is one of Saylor's mementos of the struggle in the Pacific.

Then adding to Saylor's tough luck was the fact that he contracted jungle fever.

Don's brother, Dick, now employed in a Pittsburgh steel mill, was with the 5th Marine Division but he saw no actual combat duty. He's expecting to receive greetings almost any day.

Donald was born in Lonaconing but lived at Berlin and Johnstown, Pa., and Rochester, N. Y., during the days his father, James R. Saylor (406 North Centre Street) was traveling for the Jewel Tea Company. His dad is now a bus operator on the Cumberland Transit Lines. Don's mother was Miss Bertha Hoffa of Lonaconing.

In spite of all his wounds, Don Saylor never received any citations. In fact, he never went after them. After the war was over and he returned home he took off his uniform and forgot about it.

That's why we never heard about before.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 20—Moorefield High School retained the leadership of the Potomac Valley Conference by defeating Franklin High School's Panthers today at Franklin by the score of 31-0.

The victory was Moorefield's third against one tie game in the seven-school circuit.

Coach Johnny Paugh's Yellow Jackets collected all their points in the second and third periods.

Kenny Vance scored the first td in the second period by smashing over from the one-foot line. A five yard pass from Gene Baldwin to James Hardy who ran nine yards set up the score.

Before the halftime whistle Moorefield registered two more touchdowns. Merle Barr passed to Hardy in the end zone after Baldwin's aerial to Hardy netted 40 yards and carried to the 12 and two running plays moved the pigskin to the nine.

A pass interception by Gordon Raines paved the way to the third MHS score. Raines pilfered Willard Rader's pass on the Franklin 34. Merle Barr passed to Lyle Weatherholtz who scored but the play was nullified as the result of a penalty. Harlan Hott punted and when Wimer fumbled, Weatherholtz recovered on the eight. Barr passed to Clark on the two and then Barr went over on a quarterback sneak. George Fisher kicked Moorefield's only extra point to give the Jackets a 19-0 lead at intermission.

Gene Baldwin ran left end for 23 yards and a touchdown in the third quarter and later in the same stanza Weatherholtz snared Whetzel's 19-yard pass and galloped 15 yards to paydirt.

Two of Moorefield's kicks for extra points were blocked by Guy Simmons and Eugene Rader.

Franklin registered six of its seven first downs and 83 of its 141 yards rushing in the final period. Eugene Rader played best for the losers. Lineups:

Four teams are deadlocked for first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League race as a result of Beall High's 2-1 triumph over Bruce High at Westernport and Flintstone's scoreless tie game with Barton High at Barton yesterday.

The schools knotted for the lead are Beall, Barton, Flintstone and Central. Each team is credited with four points in the standings.

Coach Ed Finzel's Beall High eleven put on a garrison finish to hand Bruce High School its third straight setback. Trailing 1-0 as a result of Louie Complesi's field goal in the opening stanza, Beall packed its scoring punch in the last six minutes of play when Willetts Duncan tied the count with a penalty goal and Ken Witt decided the issue with a field goal. A fumble by the Bruce goalie preceded Witt's winning shot.

Arnone played a nifty game at goal for the Mountaineers, making several nice saves. Moe Baker, Dick McClintock and Willetts Duncan also played outstanding ball for the Mountain City aggregation. Gene Ferguson, Bill McKenzie, Louie Complesi and Bill Howe were Bruce High's best bets.

The Flintstone-Barton scoreless tie was the third in eight games played this season in the schoolboy circuit. It was also the 4th tie contest of the campaign.

"Sonny" Kyle, Arnold Tichnell and Tim Clark were the outstanding players for Barton. Mallow, T. Puffinberger and Roland stood out for Coach Augie Eichhorn's booters. The lineups:

Maryland Game Official Will Get Jury Trial

Fleet Dove Shooting Case Set For Nov. 2

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20 (AP) — A. Gordon Fleet, chairman of Maryland's Game and Inland Fish Commission, pleaded in court today he had nothing to do with baiting an area in Anne Arundel county where he went dove shooting on Sept. 1.

Fleet and 11 other men appeared before Judge William C. Coleman in Federal Court to answer charges of shooting doves over a baited area near Davidsonville.

Hal C. B. Tragett, Fleet's attorney, told Judge Coleman it is "the clear intent of the statute" that an accused must have had something to do with the baiting before he can be convicted of such a charge.

Judge Coleman disagreed. He said it was in the nature of running through a red traffic light — the offense exists regardless of the intent.

After this ruling, Fleet asked for a jury trial and Judge Coleman set it on the calendar for Nov. 2.

Lester N. Towner, also connected with the game and fish commission, joined the ten others in a plea of technical guilt, maintaining that they too knew nothing of the baiting.

Judge Coleman deferred action in these cases until after the Fleet trial.

The other defendants are James H. and Reginald W. Bennett, David W. and Wiley R. Bell, Harold J. Dudley, John E. Lane, Carroll M. Martin, John Moreland, George L. Parks and Donald Scallings.

The 1950 sandlot baseball season in the tri-state area will be concluded Sunday if Oakland's Amvets defeat the Accident Indians in a Mountain Top League affair.

Georgetown Defeats Boston College, 20-10

BOSTON, Oct. 20 (AP) — Thrice-beaten Georgetown spotted Boston College a first period field goal and then stormed back for a 20-10 victory tonight before a 14,548 crowd at Braves Field. The Hoyas tallied touchdowns in each of the last three quarters and Dick Haesler, their conversion specialist, had his first extra-point failure in 19 tries after the final counter.

La Starza Is Winner

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Roland La Starza of New York punched lanky Duilio Spagnolo all over the ring tonight to gain a one-sided ten-round decision over the Italian heavyweight at St. Nicholas Arena. La Starza, a 1 to 4 choice, outweighed his foe, 190½ to 184.

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 20—Keyser High School took Parsons High School of Tucher County into camp today at Stayman Field in a Potomac Valley Conference game. The score was 13-7.

Kenneth Lee's recovery of Good's fumble set the stage for the KHS touchdown in the first period. After Lee grabbed the fumble on the Keyser 47, Robert "Cowboy" Ryan ran 37 yards on the first play, two carries by Joe Swisher netted six yards and a 9-yard aerial from Swisher to Ralph Shoemaker produced the score.

Ryan dashed over from the nine and Michaels kicked the point to give Keyser a 13-0 lead at the end of the third period. During this drive two long passes ate up 30 yards. Swisher passed to Lee for a gain of 18 and then hit Shoemaker for 12.

Parsons' td came in the final period, a muffed punt by Stoutamyer which Parsons recovered on the KHS 10 setting up the score. On the 4th play Good smacked over from the 1-yard line. Evans kicked the point.

It was homecoming day for Keyser High and at a dance given tonight at the high school trophies were awarded to Robert Ryan and Kenneth Lee who were adjudged the outstanding back and linemen in today's game. The trophies donated by the Touchdown Club of the Alumni Association were presented to the players by George Barger. Miss Maxine Hoover—"Miss Homecoming 1st" was crowned by Russell Bishop.

BEDFORD, Pa., Oct. 20 — Conemaugh Township cracked Bedford High School's four-game winning streak tonight by grabbing a 20-18 decision.

Steve Pepoy scored all of Conemaugh's touchdowns. The first came on 18 yard run, the second on a 23-yard dash and the third on a nine-yard pass from Green. The margin of victory was Green's two placement kicks.

Salathe went off tackle for 20 yards for Bedford's initial score while Capt. Harry Kutz made the other six-pointers. Kurtz ran 55 yards for one tally and ran 102 yards for the other when Conemaugh fumbled on the one and the ball was recovered by the Bedford captain in the end zone.

Shaw of Bedford missed all three placements. One hit an upright and the others went wide and low. Lineups:

Eleven Seek Post Vacated By Dyer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20. (AP)—Would-be managers of the 1951 St. Louis Cardinals are taking owner Fred Saigh at his word that the job is wide open.

Saigh said today he had received 11 applications for the post vacated last Monday by Eddie Dyer. Only one of the applications is from a member of the Cardinal organization, he said.

Saigh did not identify any of the applicants but he eliminated one possibility by answering "no" when asked if he was interested in Rogers Hornsby. He did not elaborate.

Fort Hill's unbeaten juggernaut roared to its 14th straight victory and sixth this year with a convincing 41-6 walloping of an outmanned, crippled, but not outfought Ridgeley High eleven last night at Fort Hill stadium before a crowd of 2,500.

The Sentinel regulars played little more than a quarter and a half and Coach Bill Hahn made liberal use of his reserve strength by clearing the bench.

Six Players Score

Six players scored single touchdowns each for the Hilltoppers with Eddie Landis, Dave Ritter, Ronnie Cage, Jack Kirby, Don Brake and Norman Cage breaking into the scoring column. Dick Beard, city's leading scorer, added five extra points from placement, missing only on his last try.

Ridgeley failed to penetrate deeper than the Fort Hill 32 yard line during the first three periods but finally managed to score against the Sentinels third string, climaxing an 86 yard drive when Bill Phillips plunged over from the one, after Fort Hill led 41-0.

The Hahnman opened with a bang tallying three times in the first period almost before the fans got settled comfortably in their seats.

Landis ended a 58-yard march with a three-yard slant off tackle for the initial touchdown and Ronnie Cage tallied later on another three-yard buck after Fort Hill's Carl Brant intercepted a Bill Loy pass to set up the six-pointer.

In between Fred Meeks, Fort Hill end, blocked Loy's attempted punt on the Ridgeley 25 and his terminal mate, Dave Ritter, picked up the loose pigskin on the 15 and raced over for the score.

The Hilltoppers' second string gave an excellent account of itself and played Ridgeley on better than equal terms throughout its stay in the game, outscoring the Blackhawks three touchdowns to one.

Norman Cage, Jack Lloyd and Leonard White sparkled offensively for the Sentinel second string with the former picking up 72 yards rushing in seven attempts for an average of 10.1 yards per carry.

Lloyd hit 4.8 yards average with 24 in five attempts, and White 39 in 4 for 9.7 average.

Longest runs were made by Landis with 26, Norman Cage with 38, 15 and 10, Lloyd with 14, and White with 20 and 18.

Ridgeley Uses Passes

Coach Ralph Poling's Blackhawks used an aerial attack that frequently ended with a lateral from the receiver to another carrier for its most potent weapon, picking up 122 yards via this method, completing 11 of 24 passes with 2 intercepted.

Carl Hartman was the chief target of passers Loy and Phillips while the latter two were the big cogs in the Ridgeley running attack. Phillips carried 17 times and picked up 74 yards for a 4.3 percentage and Loy 11 carries for 23 yards and 2.09 average.

Outstanding for the winners were Brant, Landis, Meeks, Ritter, Norman Cage, White and Lloyd. For Ridgeley which lost its third game in four starts the best players were Phillips, Loy, Carl Hartman, Burke Baker, James White, and Ralph Whetzel. The lineups:

SPORTS GRILL

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (INS) — If Ezzard Charles is more than a little annoyed with Joe Louis, you can't blame him.

For Joe is starting to plough a field that Charles hoped would be exclusively his own.

For years, Charles had been hitting the tank towns for what the fistic fraternity calls short dough. Then at long last he got a shot at the heavyweight crown and promptly lifted it from Joe's corrugated brow.

Once again Charles got short dough for his end. But that was all right with him. He had the heavyweight title and didn't everybody say that the title was worth a million?

So Charles set out to establish his own Bum of the Month Club, just as Louis did after he won the title. The plan was fool-proof and profitable. All Charles had to do was find enough stumblebums to belt over and he would be rolling in wealth.

But right away Charles ran into a snag. Where there were hundreds of bums willing to be belted out in a round by Joe Louis in his heydey, Charles now found a woefully limited field.

Where, he asked, are the bums of yesteryear?

There were very few around who could draw even coffee and cake money with him. Still, Charles was satisfied to take what was available and make the best of it.

Fine. But now along comes Louis who had retired again and again and again, to fight again.

Worse still, Joe threatened to reopen a new Bum of the Month Club as a build-up for a return bout with Charles.

And that, Charles feels, isn't kosher. Charles sees Louis grabbing the gravy he, Charles, rightfully felt was his.

Louis' first move was to sign to fight Cesar Brion, a nice friendly Argentinian heavyweight, whose straight-up style of boxing is made to order for Louis—or for anybody else who can fight a lick.

Charles was forced to cross Brion off his list of prospective clients, and some easy money went out the window.

Now Charles finds that the International Boxing Club, in which Louis is a partner, and which has Charles under contract, has some more nice touches in store for Louis—not Charles.

Among these may be mentioned Lee Oma, Roland La Starza and Rocky Marciano, whose real mentor is Al Weil, the IBC matchmaker.

The IBC is sitting pretty no matter how things go. If one of these tame tabbies should happen to forget his lines and beat Louis, that would be all right with the IBC which then would have a "legitimate" challenger for Charles' title.

Incidentally, the mere fact that there are not enough bums around to be knocked over, is a sad commentary on the present state of the fight racket.

And, as one little fight manager told us sadly the other day, it's gotten so bad that a fellow can't even find anybody who can turn in a plausible tank job.

Caras Here Next Week

Beat Greenleaf At 17

Don Saylor's Secret

He Shunned Citations

By C. V. BURNS

One week from tonight Cumberland will be honored with a visit by the champion of the world at pocket billiards.

JIMMY CARAS

Jimmy Caras of Upper Darby, Pa., is coming here to give an exhibition of his cue skill at the Scoreboard Billiard Parlor, North Mechanic street.

Caras will devote his show to a demonstration of pocket billiard fundamentals, designed to show the beginner how to approach the game; open his bag of trick shots and amaze his audience with his feat of pocketing rolling balls.

He is the second world's billiard champion scheduled to appear in Cumberland. In bygone days, the late Ralph Greenleaf showed here on two occasions.

Jimmy first broke into the sports spotlight as a lad of 17, when he downed the mighty Ralph Greenleaf in an exhibition match, causing the nation's sports writers to immediately dub him the "boy wonder."

We won the world's title in tournament play in 1936 and downed Erwin Rudolph in a challenge match following the tourney. In 1938 he blasted his way to the title for the second time. Jimmy beat back the challenge of Andrew Ponzi in a special match, at the time Ponzi was at the top of his game.

Last year Caras won the national and world tournaments, the first player to perform this feat in the history of the game.

Cumberlanders who saw Caras perform in a recent exhibition match at Pittsburgh report that Jimmy is an amazing billiardist and is sure to please those who come out to see him in action here next Saturday night.

When Don Saylor rejoined the United States Marines the other day, we learned for the first time that the assistant professional golfer at the Cumberland Country Club had gone through some of the most terrific battles of the Second World War and 85 per cent of the Fourth Marine Division in which he served was wiped out by the Japs.

We've talked to Saylor many times since he came to the Country Club two years ago but never did he mention that he was in the thick of it in the Pacific and was lucky to be alive.

After Saylor left town for Camp Lejeune, "Stony" Jackson came in from the club one evening and gave us the lowdown on Don. In fact, "Stony" thought so much of Don that he suggested we use the latter's picture.

We learned that Saylor was in the Marines when the war broke out. Among the places he saw action were Saipan, Tinian and Iwo Jima. Once he had his ear torn loose. It was patched up and he was sent back into action.

It was at Saipan that a blast concussion from an exploding Jap hand grenade blinded Saylor in both eyes and he was in a hospital for 30 days before he regained his sight.

Nerves were transferred from his leg in an effort to build up his eyelids and it was necessary to use a steel brace on one of them. A drooping eyelid is one of Saylor's mementos of the struggle in the Pacific.

Then adding to Saylor's tough luck was the fact that he contracted jungle fever.

Don's brother, Dick, now employed in a Pittsburgh steel mill, was with the 5th Marine Division but he saw no actual combat duty. He's expecting to receive greetings almost any day.

Donald was born in Lonaconing but lived at Berlin and Johnstown, Pa., and Rochester, N. Y., during the days his father, James R. Saylor (406 North Centre Street) was traveling for the Jewel Tea Company. His dad is now a bus operator on the Cumberland Transit Lines. Don's mother was Miss Bertha Hoffa of Lonaconing.

In spite of all his wounds, Don Saylor never received any citations. In fact, he never went after them. After the war was over and he returned home he took off his uniform and forgot about it.

That's why we never heard about Don before.

Four teams are deadlocked for first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League race as a result of Beall High's 2-1 triumph over Bruce High at Westernport and Flintstone's scoreless tie game with Barton High at Barton yesterday.

The schools knotted for the lead are Beall, Barton, Flintstone and Central. Each team is credited with four points in the standings.

Coach Ed Finzel's Beall High eleven put on a garrison finish to hand Bruce High School its third straight setback. Trailing 1-0 as a result of Louie Complesi's field goal in the opening stanza, Beall packed its scoring punch in the last six minutes of play when Willetts Duncan tied the count with a penalty goal and Ken Witt decided the issue with a field goal. A fumble by the Bruce goalie preceded Witt's winning shot.

Arnone played a nifty game at goal for the Mountaineers, making several nice saves. Moe Baker, Dick McClintock and Willetts Duncan also played outstanding ball for the Mountain City aggregation. Gene Ferguson, Bill McKenzie, Louie Complesi and Bill Howe were Bruce High's best bets.

The Flintstone-Barton scoreless tie was the third in eight games played this season in the schoolboy circuit. It was also the 4th tie contest of the campaign.

"Sonny" Kyle, Arnold Tichnell and Tim Clark were the outstanding players for Barton. Mallow, T. Puffinberger and Roland stood out for Coach Augie Eichhorn's booters. The lineups:

Maryland Game Official Will Get Jury Trial

Fleet Dove Shooting Case Set For Nov. 2

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20 (AP) — A. Gordon Fleet, chairman of Maryland's Game and Inland Fish Commission, pleaded in court today he had nothing to do with baiting an area in Anne Arundel county where he went dove shooting on Sept. 1.

Fleet and 11 other men appeared before Judge William C. Coleman in Federal Court to answer charges of shooting doves over a baited area near Davidsonville.

Hal C. B. Tragett, Fleet's attorney, told Judge Coleman it is "the clear intent of the statute" that an accused must have had something to do with the baiting before he can be convicted of such a charge.

Judge Coleman disagreed. He said it was in the nature of running through a red traffic light — the offense exists regardless of the intent.

After this ruling, Fleet asked for a jury trial and Judge Coleman set it on the calendar for Nov. 2.

Lester N. Towner, also connected with the game and fish commission, joined the ten others in a plea of technical guilt, maintaining that they too knew nothing of the baiting.

Judge Coleman deferred action in these cases until after the Fleet trial.

The other defendants are James H. and Reginald W. Bennett, David W. and Wiley R. Bell, Harold J. Dudley, John E. Lane, Carroll M. Martin, John Moreland, George L. Parks and Donald Scallings.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (INS) — If Ezzard Charles is more than a little annoyed with Joe Louis, you can't blame him.

For Joe is starting to plough a field that Charles hoped would be exclusively his own.

For years, Charles had been hitting the tank towns for what the fistic fraternity calls short dough. Then at long last he got a shot at the heavyweight crown and promptly lifted it from Joe's corrugated brow.

Once again Charles got short dough for his end. But that was all right with him. He had the heavyweight title and didn't everybody say that the title was worth a million?

So Charles set out to establish his own Bum of the Month Club, just as Louis did after he won the title. The plan was fool-proof and profitable. All Charles had to do was find enough stumblebums to belt over and he would be rolling in wealth.

But right away Charles ran into a snag. Where there were hundreds of bums willing to be belted out in a round by Joe Louis in his heydey, Charles now found a woefully limited field.

Where, he asked, are the bums of yesteryear?

There were very few around who could draw even coffee and cake money with him. Still, Charles was satisfied to take what was available and make the best of it.

Fine. But now along comes Louis who had retired again and again and again, to fight again.

Worse still, Joe threatened to reopen a new Bum of the Month Club as a build-up for a return bout with Charles.

And that, Charles feels, isn't kosher. Charles sees Louis grabbing the gravy he, Charles, rightfully felt was his.

Louis' first move was to sign to fight Cesar Brion, a nice friendly Argentinian heavyweight, whose straight-up style of boxing is made to order for Louis—or for anybody else who can fight a lick.

Charles was forced to cross Brion off his list of prospective clients, and some easy money went out the window.

Now Charles finds that the International Boxing Club, in which Louis is a partner, and which has Charles under contract, has some more nice touches in store for Louis—not Charles.

Among these may be mentioned Lee Oma, Roland La Starza and Rocky Marciano, whose real mentor is Al Weil, the IBC matchmaker.

The IBC is sitting pretty no matter how things go. If one of these tame tabbies should happen to forget his lines and beat Louis, that would be all right with the IBC which then would have a "legitimate" challenger for Charles' title.

Incidentally, the mere fact that there are not enough bums around to be knocked over, is a sad commentary on the present state of the fight racket.

And, as one little fight manager told us sadly the other day, it's gotten so bad that a fellow can't even find anybody who can turn in a plausible tank job.

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 20—Keyser High School took Parsons High School of Tucher County into camp today at Stayman Field in a Potomac Valley Conference game. The score was 13-7.

Kenneth Lee's recovery of Good's fumble set the stage for the KHS touchdown in the first period. After Lee grabbed the fumble on the Keyser 47, Robert "Cowboy" Ryan ran 37 yards on the first play, two carries by Joe Swisher netted six yards and a 9-yard aerial from Swisher to Ralph Shoemaker produced the score.

Ryan dashed over from the nine and Michaels kicked the point to give Keyser a 13-0 lead at the end of the third period. During this drive two long passes ate up 30 yards. Swisher passed to Lee for a gain of 18 and then hit Shoemaker for 12.

Parsons' td came in the final period, a muffed punt by Stoutamyer which Parsons recovered on the KHS 10 setting up the score. On the 4th play Good smacked over from the 1-yard line. Evans kicked the point.

It was homecoming day for Keyser High and at a dance given tonight at the high school trophies were awarded to Robert Ryan and Kenneth Lee who were adjudged the outstanding back and linemen in today's game. The trophies donated by the Touchdown Club of the Alumni Association were presented to the players by George Barger. Miss Maxine Hoover—"Miss Homecoming 1st" was crowned by Russell Bishop.

Eleven Seek Post Vacated By Dyer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20. (AP)—Would-be managers of the 1951 St. Louis Cardinals are taking owner Fred Saigh at his word that the job is wide open.

Saigh said today he had received 11 applications for the post vacated last Monday by Eddie Dyer. Only one of the applications is from a member of the Cardinal organization, he said.

Saigh did not identify any of the applicants but he eliminated one possibility by answering "no" when asked if he was interested in Rogers Hornsby. He did not elaborate.

Fort Hill's unbeaten juggernaut roared to its 14th straight victory and sixth this year with a convincing 41-6 walloping of an outmanned, crippled, but not outfought Ridgeley High eleven last night at Fort Hill stadium before a crowd of 2,500.

The Sentinel regulars played little more than a quarter and a half and Coach Bill Hahn made liberal use of his reserve strength by clearing the bench.

Six Players Score

Six players scored single touchdowns each for the Hilltoppers with Eddie Landis, Dave Ritter, Ronnie Cage, Jack Kirby, Don Brake and Norman Cage breaking into the scoring column. Dick Beard, city's leading scorer, added five extra points from placement, missing only on his last try.

Ridgeley failed to penetrate deeper than the Fort Hill 32 yard line during the first three periods but finally managed to score against the Sentinels third string, climaxing an 86 yard drive when Bill Phillips plunged over from the one, after Fort Hill led 41-0.

The Hahnman opened with a bang tallying three times in the first period almost before the fans got settled comfortably in their seats.

Landis ended a 58-yard march with a three-yard slant off tackle for the initial touchdown and Ronnie Cage tallied later on another three-yard buck after Fort Hill's Carl Brant intercepted a Bill Loy pass to set up the six-pointer.

In between Fred Meeks, Fort Hill end, blocked Loy's attempted punt on the Ridgeley 25 and his terminal mate, Dave Ritter, picked up the loose pigskin on the 15 and raced over for the score.

The Hilltoppers' second string gave an excellent account of itself and played Ridgeley on better than equal terms throughout its stay in the game, outscoring the Blackhawks three touchdowns to one.

Norman Cage, Jack Lloyd and Leonard White sparkled offensively for the Sentinel second string with the former picking up 72 yards rushing in seven attempts for an average of 10.1 yards per carry.

Lloyd hit 4.8 yards average with 24 in five attempts, and White 39 in 4 for 9.7 average.

Longest runs were made by Landis with 26, Norman Cage with 38, 15 and 10, Lloyd with 14, and White with 20 and 18.

Ridgeley Uses Passes

Coach Ralph Poling's Blackhawks used an aerial attack that frequently ended with a lateral from the receiver to another carrier for its most potent weapon, picking up 122 yards via this method, completing 11 of 24 passes with 2 intercepted.

Carl Hartman was the chief target of passers Loy and Phillips while the latter two were the big cogs in the Ridgeley running attack. Phillips carried 17 times and picked up 74 yards for a 4.3 percentage and Loy 11 carries for 23 yards and 2.09 average.

Outstanding for the winners were Brant, Landis, Meeks, Ritter, Norman Cage, White and Lloyd. For Ridgeley which lost its third game in four starts the best players were Phillips, Loy, Carl Hartman, Burke Baker, James White, and Ralph Whetzel. The lineups:

Ennobled Takes Third Straight At Garden State

Beats Fair Appraisal By Eight Lengths

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 20 (AP) — Ennobled, sporting the silks of the William G. Helis Estate, sped to a shallow eight-length triumph today at Garden State Park before a crowd of 10,831 in the featured TV Special Purse.

Fair Appraisal was second, a neck before Fighting Fleet who finished third in a field of seven thoroughbreds who measured strides in the event.

It was Ennobled's third start at the Camden course this season and his third triumph.

He performed in the role of the public choice, as usual, and he rewarded his host of backers with a neat $3.80 straight, after traversing the one mile and one sixteenth in 1:43.

Ennobled was ridden by little Joe Culmone and it was his second victory of the afternoon.

Magnet Is Victor

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 20 (AP) — Pelican Stable's Magnet sprinted to an easy three-length victory in today's $3,500 Security Purse to the delight of a host of favorite players in the crowd of 7,685.

Oriole, which races for Richard E. Carter, finished second and a length behind came Cedar Farm's Sonofun. The winner paid $4.60, $2.60 and $2.40 across the board. Holder of the six-furlong track record here of 1.09 2-5, Magnet's 1:12 clocking today was quite adequate.

A field of eight handicap horses will contest the $15,000 Washington Handicap at a mile and a quarter here tomorrow. The winner receives an invitation to the Pimlico Special to be held on Nov. 3.

Smith Scores Triple

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP) — Clarence Smith, 18-year-old apprentice rider from Corbin, Ky., made the news at Jamaica race track today, scoring a triple, featured by a victory aboard Joe W. Brown's Riverlane in The Patroon, an allowance race of a mile and a sixteenth, which held the top spot of today's Empire City Racing Association card.

Smith held Riverlane back in third place until three eighths of a mile from home, then rapidly forged to the front along the inside to win by a length and a quarter going away from the favored Hudson Valley Stable's Gold Heel. Titien 2nd was third with Little Captain and Sky Miracle bringing up the field.

Smith's other winners were North Shore at $11.40 and Alas at $16.70.

SMU Faces Rice In Top Football Contest Today

Army And Oklahoma Take On Breathers

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Army and Oklahoma subject their unbeaten streaks to only mild pressure tomorrow while conference battles hold the attention of college football fans.

West Point's Black Knights, unconquered in 23 games, throw their awesome attack at deemphasized Harvard in Cambridge, Mass.

Oklahoma's Sooners, boasting a 24-game winning string, play battered Kansas State at Norman, Okla. Several Oklahoma bench warmers figure to get their suits dirty for the first time.

While the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 powers are thus occupied, other ranking teams will be sweating out difficult conference and intersectional assignments.

Three Big Ten Games

This is a big week-end for league play with the southwest again providing the headliner in the night conflict at Houston between Southern Methodist's third-ranked Mustangs and Rice's defending Southwest Conference champions. Both are unbeaten and untied.

Notre Dame, the eleventh ranking team in the country—the first time in years the Irish have been rated so low,—tackles Indiana of the Big Ten. Frank Leahy's South Benders will be out to make up some of the prestige they lost when they dropped a decision to Purdue two weeks ago.

The Big Ten, which furnishes the host team in the Rose Bowl, offers three league games that will go a long way toward determining the 1950 choice for Pasadena.

Michigan, stunned by Michigan State and then walloped by Army outside the conference, will open its league campaign against Wisconsin, winner of three in a row, at Ann Arbor. Purdue will play at Iowa and Ohio State at Minnesota.

Illinois will take on one of the Pacific Coast's titans—unbeaten, untied Washington—at Champaign, Ill., in one of the several good intersectional frays.

Kentucky's Wildcats, No. 4 in the national rankings, come north to engage Villanova. Southern California sweeps all the way across the continent to meet thrice-whipped Navy at Baltimore. Penn State travels to Nebraska.

Stanford Battles UCLA

The feature game on the Pacific Coast is at Los Angeles where Stanford, winner of four straight, pursues a Rose Bowl bid against Red Sanders' UCLA team.

California's Golden Bears, defending PCC champions, go against Oregon State, which is still looking for a win.

Alabama and Tennessee, each beaten once, tangle at Knoxville.

Over in the Southern Conference, two pass-minded teams—Wake Forest and George Washington—clash with the league lead at stake. Each has won three of four games. Neither is beaten in the conference.

Duke is at Richmond, VMI at Virginia, North Carolina State at Maryland, William and Mary at Virginia Tech and Washington and Lee at Davidson.

Eight Entered In Laurel Race

Winner To Get Invite To Pimlico Special

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 20 (AP) —Eight proven stakes horses are entered for tomorrow's $15,000-added Washington Handicap with an invitation to the Nov. 3 Pimlico Special awaiting the winner.

Almost any one of the entries is considered capable of taking the mile and a quarter race.

There's C. E. Tuttle's Double Brandy who just last Saturday won the Southern Maryland handicap at Bowie. Second in that race was Louis G. Shaw's Abstract which is returning in the Washington.

Also coming back for another crack at Double Brandy is Brookmeade Stable's Dart By, third in the Southern Maryland after winning four straight stakes. Dart By will have Blue Hills, second in the Atlantic City Turf Handicap, as a running partner.

Frank A. Bonsal's Pilaster, victor by a nose over Blue Hills here the other day, also will bear watching. Pilaster was the top distance runner in Maryland last year.

The other entries are Grandview Stable's Pellicle, Federico De La Madriz's Hypocrite II, and Olympic handicap winner, and Mrs. S. J. Vollmer's Infirst.

There are more than 15,000 different kinds of wine in the world.

Ennobled Takes Third Straight At Garden State

Beats Fair Appraisal By Eight Lengths

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 20 (AP) — Ennobled, sporting the silks of the William G. Helis Estate, sped to a shallow eight-length triumph today at Garden State Park before a crowd of 10,831 in the featured TV Special Purse.

Fair Appraisal was second, a neck before Fighting Fleet who finished third in a field of seven thoroughbreds who measured strides in the event.

It was Ennobled's third start at the Camden course this season and his third triumph.

He performed in the role of the public choice, as usual, and he rewarded his host of backers with a neat $3.80 straight, after traversing the one mile and one sixteenth in 1:43.

Ennobled was ridden by little Joe Culmone and it was his second victory of the afternoon.

Magnet Is Victor

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 20 (AP) — Pelican Stable's Magnet sprinted to an easy three-length victory in today's $3,500 Security Purse to the delight of a host of favorite players in the crowd of 7,685.

Oriole, which races for Richard E. Carter, finished second and a length behind came Cedar Farm's Sonofun. The winner paid $4.60, $2.60 and $2.40 across the board. Holder of the six-furlong track record here of 1.09 2-5, Magnet's 1:12 clocking today was quite adequate.

A field of eight handicap horses will contest the $15,000 Washington Handicap at a mile and a quarter here tomorrow. The winner receives an invitation to the Pimlico Special to be held on Nov. 3.

Smith Scores Triple

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP) — Clarence Smith, 18-year-old apprentice rider from Corbin, Ky., made the news at Jamaica race track today, scoring a triple, featured by a victory aboard Joe W. Brown's Riverlane in The Patroon, an allowance race of a mile and a sixteenth, which held the top spot of today's Empire City Racing Association card.

Smith held Riverlane back in third place until three eighths of a mile from home, then rapidly forged to the front along the inside to win by a length and a quarter going away from the favored Hudson Valley Stable's Gold Heel. Titien 2nd was third with Little Captain and Sky Miracle bringing up the field.

Smith's other winners were North Shore at $11.40 and Alas at $16.70.

Terp Booters Win

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 20 (AP) — Maryland's soccer team, defending champions of the Southern Conference, knocked off Virginia 5-1 today in a non-league clash.

It was the second straight victory for the Terps and Virginia's first loss in four starts.

SMU Faces Rice In Top Football Contest Today

Army And Oklahoma Take On Breathers

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Army and Oklahoma subject their unbeaten streaks to only mild pressure tomorrow while conference battles hold the attention of college football fans.

West Point's Black Knights, unconquered in 23 games, throw their awesome attack at deemphasized Harvard in Cambridge, Mass.

Oklahoma's Sooners, boasting a 24-game winning string, play battered Kansas State at Norman, Okla. Several Oklahoma bench warmers figure to get their suits dirty for the first time.

While the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 powers are thus occupied, other ranking teams will be sweating out difficult conference and intersectional assignments.

Three Big Ten Games

This is a big week-end for league play with the southwest again providing the headliner in the night conflict at Houston between Southern Methodist's third-ranked Mustangs and Rice's defending Southwest Conference champions. Both are unbeaten and untied.

Notre Dame, the eleventh ranking team in the country—the first time in years the Irish have been rated so low,—tackles Indiana of the Big Ten. Frank Leahy's South Benders will be out to make up some of the prestige they lost when they dropped a decision to Purdue two weeks ago.

The Big Ten, which furnishes the host team in the Rose Bowl, offers three league games that will go a long way toward determining the 1950 choice for Pasadena.

Michigan, stunned by Michigan State and then walloped by Army outside the conference, will open its league campaign against Wisconsin, winner of three in a row, at Ann Arbor. Purdue will play at Iowa and Ohio State at Minnesota.

Illinois will take on one of the Pacific Coast's titans—unbeaten, untied Washington—at Champaign, Ill., in one of the several good intersectional frays.

Kentucky's Wildcats, No. 4 in the national rankings, come north to engage Villanova. Southern California sweeps all the way across the continent to meet thrice-whipped Navy at Baltimore. Penn State travels to Nebraska.

Stanford Battles UCLA

The feature game on the Pacific Coast is at Los Angeles where Stanford, winner of four straight, pursues a Rose Bowl bid against Red Sanders' UCLA team.

California's Golden Bears, defending PCC champions, go against Oregon State, which is still looking for a win.

Alabama and Tennessee, each beaten once, tangle at Knoxville.

Over in the Southern Conference, two pass-minded teams—Wake Forest and George Washington—clash with the league lead at stake Each has won three of four games. Neither is beaten in the conference.

Duke is at Richmond, VMI at Virginia, North Carolina State at Maryland, William and Mary at Virginia Tech and Washington and Lee at Davidson.

Clemson Gridder Killed In Crash

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 20 (AP) — Pooley Hubert, Jr., a Clemson football player and son of thef ormer VMI coach and Alabama football star, was seriously injured and a teammate killed when their motorcycle struck a car as it rounded a curve on U. S. Route 220 a mile north of Rocky Mount today.

The Clemson played killed was Rinaldo E. Villardi of Plainsville, Conn.

The eder Hubert is now a Lexington, Va., businessman.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

Bridge players ordinarily think of good cards handled skillfully as the instruments of success, when the skill is applied to both the bidding and the play. There is another combination, however, that sometimes obtains just as good results. That is the hitching up of courageous refusal to give up, keen effort, timely cooperation by your opponents and just plain luck. There are so many cases of this proving the winning combination that the fine player strives for it when all else seems to be in vain.

North had disappeared from the scene before South ever saw that dummy. Who can blame him after that bid of 4-Spades with only three trumps and nowhere near enough strength for such a jump?

South refused to let his opponents see how flabbergasted he was by the bid, but quietly went to work to enlist their co-operation together with that of Lady Luck. He won the heart 4 lead with dummy's A after a bit of study and planning, then led the club 3. East decided to play his 6, and the K won.

Putting on his boldest front, South now led a trump, the 2. West won with his J and returned the club Q, which the spade 7 ruffed. The heart J was led to the Q and the diamond Q finessed. The heart K was laid down, the diamond 6 being discarded from dummy and the spade 6 ruffing for East. The latter returned the club A to make South ruff, which he gladly did with the spade 8. The spade A, diamond 2 ruffed by the spade 9 and the now good club J made the declarer's 10th trick, and he willingly gave up the final one with the club 8 to the spade Q for the third trick the defense gained.

When North came back into the room, he started to apologize to South, but instead found himself thanked for having made one of the worst bids of his life, since it brought a game for the pair.

Your Weekend Question

What planning procedure, observed by all good declarers, should a defender also employ? That question is intended to apply to the principal weakness of players whose game is pretty good in practically all other respects?

James E. Hadley vs. Bernice Louise Hadley, No. 21,935 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Plaintiff from the Defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

Bill states that the parties were married on July 24, 1936 in Lonaconing, Maryland and that they lived together in Allegany County until January 27, 1949 on which date the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff and declared her intention to live with him no longer; that said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly from that time down to the present time; is of at least 18 months duration; is deliberate, final and beyond reasonable hope of reconciliation.

Three children, namely; Jo Ann Hadley, age 13, Thelma Louise Hadley, age 12 and Sonia Rae Hadley, age 7, were born to parties of the marriage, all of whom are in the possession and custody of the Plaintiff and whose permanent custody and guardianship is desired by the Plaintiff; that the Plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County, Maryland for more than one year last passed; that the Defendant is a non-resident of Maryland and her last known address was 616 Lincoln Avenue, Dayton, Ohio.

It is thereupon, this 5th day of October, 1950, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause this order to be inserted in some newspaper in Allegany County, once a week for four weeks, before the 6th day of November, 1950, giving notice to the said Bernice Louise Hadley, absent Defendant, of the object and substance of this Bill and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 22nd day of November, 1950, to show cause, if any she has, why the decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

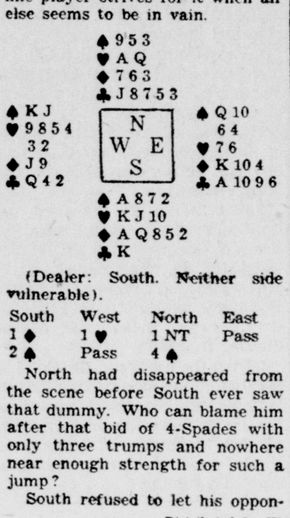
Bridge players ordinarily think of good cards handled skillfully as the instruments of success, when the skill is applied to both the bidding and the play. There is another combination, however, that sometimes obtains just as good results. That is the hitching up of courageous refusal to give up, keen effort, timely cooperation by your opponents and just plain luck. There are so many cases of this proving the winning combination that the fine player strives for it when all else seems to be in vain.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable).

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	1 ♥	1 NT	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

North had disappeared from the scene before South ever saw that dummy. Who can blame him after that bid of 4-Spades with only three trumps and nowhere near enough strength for such a jump?

South refused to let his opponents see how flabbergasted he was by the bid, but quietly went to work to enlist their co-operation together with that of Lady Luck. He won the heart 4 lead with dummy's A after a bit of study and planning, then led the club 3. East decided to play his 6, and the K won.

Putting on his boldest front, South now led a trump, the 2. West won with his J and returned the club Q, which the spade 7 ruffed. The heart J was led to the Q and the diamond Q finessed. The heart K was laid down, the diamond 6 being discarded from dummy and the spade 6 ruffing for East. The latter returned the club A to make South ruff, which he gladly did with the spade 8. The spade A, diamond 2 ruffed by the spade 9 and the now good club J made the declarer's 10th trick, and he willingly gave up the final one with the club 8 to the spade Q for the third trick the defense gained.

When North came back into the room, he started to apologize to South, but instead found himself thanked for having made one of the worst bids of his life, since it brought a game for the pair.

Your Weekend Question

What planning procedure, observed by all good declarers, should a defender also employ? That question is intended to apply to the principal weakness of players whose game is pretty good in practically all other respects?

Does your face tell the truth about your charm? Or do poor cosmetic techniques discount its value?

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

MANY a girl makes the mistake of hiding sterling qualities behind a facade of garish make-up and an overfussy hair style. Unfortunately, the world has no time to find the jewel or her personality behind the fake front and with raised eyebrows, her public quickly checks her off as tasteless and uninformed.

Not so with the real charmer! The best facets of her personality are always presented in their most natural setting—of that she makes certain. This does not mean that she lets her hair fly and throws her lipstick brush out the window. It would be as unnatural for her to give the impression that she doesn't care how she looks to others as anything that she could do. Indifference to others never wins.

Winning Charm

Do you want to make certain that your face is telling the truth the whole truth and nothing but the truth about you? Look into your mirror and ask yourself a few searching questions. Your own honest answers will show you how to put the best face on your personality.

1. Does your foundation match your skin? If it does, you're a step ahead. If it doesn't, no matter how well you apply it, it will look false.

2. Does your powder show? If it doesn't you're two steps ahead. If it does, it will belie any dewey quality your skin owns. Always brush the excess off with quick, downward strokes.

3. Can people tell you are wearing rouge? I hope not, because rouge can be a loud talker. Here's a fool-proof test: Gently pinch a spot on the inside of your arm until the color appears and try a pinch of your rouge near it. If you haven't got a match, I don't have to tell you what the next step is, except to be sure to use your new rouge sparingly.

Perfection of the Obvious

4. Is your lipline clean? It must be! Since lipstick is the only cosmetic that may appear obvious, its application must obviously be skilled. Learn to use a lipstick brush until you are expert in defining your lipline.

5. Have your eyebrows character? If you pluck them in a thin line or fail to remove the stragglers, they won't give all the meaning to the expression that should be yours!

6. Will your hair stand close scrutiny? Your answer must be yes. Nothing else will do. A woman's hair contributes more than any other one feature to her groomed, handsome looks. Keep it shiny, close to your head, and simple if you want it to shout that you are a lovely you!

Monday: Especially for club women.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Does your face tell the truth about your charm? Or do poor cosmetic techniques discount its value?

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

MANY a girl makes the mistake of hiding sterling qualities behind a facade of garish make-up and an over-fussy hair style. Unfortunately, the world has no time to find the jewel or her personality behind the fake front and with raised eyebrows, her public quickly checks her off as tasteless and uninformed.

Not so with the real charmer! The best facets of her personality are always presented in their most natural setting—of that she makes certain. This does not mean that she lets her hair fly and throws her lipstick brush out the window. It would be as unnatural for her to give the impression that she doesn't care how she looks to others as anything that she could do. Indifference to others never wins.

Winning Charm

Do you want to make certain that your face is telling the truth the whole truth and nothing but the truth about you? Look into your mirror and ask yourself a few searching questions. Your own honest answers will show you how to put the best face on your personality.

1. Does your foundation match your skin? If it does, you're a step ahead. If it doesn't, no matter how well you apply it, it will look false.

2. Does your powder show? If it doesn't you're two steps ahead. If it does, it will belie any dewey quality your skin owns. Always brush the excess off with quick, downward strokes.

3. Can people tell you are wearing rouge? I hope not, because rouge can be a loud talker. Here's a fool-proof test: Gently pinch a spot on the inside of your arm until the color appears and try a pinch of your rouge near it. If you haven't got a match, I don't have to tell you what the next step is, except to be sure to use your new rouge sparingly.

Perfection of the Obvious

4. Is your lipline clean? It must be! Since lipstick is the only cosmetic that may appear obvious, its application must obviously be skilled. Learn to use a lipstick brush until you are expert in defining your lipline.

5. Have your eyebrows character? If you pluck them in a thin line or fail to remove the stragglers, they won't give all the meaning to the expression that should be yours!

6. Will your hair stand close scrutiny? Your answer must be yes, Nothing else will do. A woman's hair contributes more than any other one feature to her groomed, handsome looks. Keep it shiny, close to your head, and simple if you want it to shout that you are a lovely you!

Monday: Especially for club women.

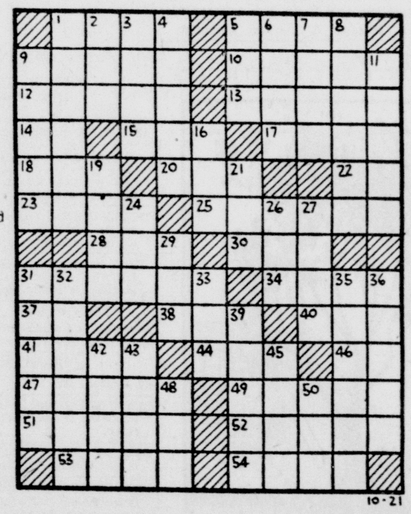
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's. X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

B R I O I B U Z F V U K R I G G T S L D D O R L T Z
R I Z A U S C K U Z L O L F F D' — G U L

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: PRAY GOODY, PLEASE TO MODERATE THE RANCOUR OF YOUR TONGUE—O'HARA.

Low-Priced Issues Take Stock Market Spotlight

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Stock buyers took an interest in a small group of low-priced issues today and let the rest of the market settle gently lower.

Only two of the 10 most active shares sold above $20 a share—and those two closed with losses. One of the eight others was cut in price.

Losses outnumbered gains by a substantial margin at the final bell. Changes were limited to less than $1 a share for the most part although there were several major exceptions.

The volume of business dropped below the 2,000,000 share mark for the first time in four sessions. Sales of 1,840,000 shares compared with 2,250,000 Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 of one point to 84.6. The rail section showed the largest loss while industrials and utilities posted minor declines.

Kroger & Co. jumped 2⅜ to 71 following word that directors had voted a year end extra dividend of 75 cents a share and had also proposed a two-for-one split of the common stock.

Budd Co., makers of railway and automotive equipment, took to honors on the most active list and gained 1⅜ at 18¼.

Lehn & Fink, another low-priced stock, finished ⅝ up at 12½. The company reported net profit for the September quarter of $419,895, a tidy increase over $154,148 in the comparable 1949 period.

Some other low-priced stocks in demand included Armour at 10⅝, American Bosch 15, Hupp Corp. 4, Hudson Motors (helped by an extra dividend) 17⅜, American Broadcasting 13⅛, Radio Corp. 18⅛, Publicker Industries 22⅛, and Eastern Air Lines 15⅝.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE COULD Consulting Psychologist

Are disagreeing doctors bad for patients?

Answer: Yes, especially for mental patients, report Drs. Alfred H. Stanton and Morris S. Schwartz of the Washington (D. C.) School of Psychiatry. A series of patients whom they observed for a period of 19 months tended to have periods of "excitement" whenever they knew their doctors disagreed about the nature or treatment of their illness. Doctors become complete "parent substitutes" to mental patients, so that having them disagree has the effect that it has on a child to have father say one thing and mother another.

Are "suicidal tendencies" hereditary?

Answer: Biologically, No. It has never been proved that the "genes" transmitted to his offspring by a parent who later destroys himself are different from those of a normal person. But suicide almost never represents the response to one unbearable situation, even though the person may believe so. It is actually the final stage of a chronic or recurrent state of deep depression, and to grow up in a family in which either parent is depressed tends to weaken a child's sense of security and leave him also prone to "black moods."

Would educating parents help prevent crime?

Answer: It might wipe out crime entirely—if the education were successful. And because there must be many well-intentioned parents who would not behave in ways that tend to make children delinquent if they understood what they were doing, there's sound sense in the suggestion that we could save money in the long run by spending some of the funds now used to build jails and mental hospitals on parent education. But teaching alone can't make fathers and mothers love their children, and it's love all children need most.

Low-Priced Issues Take Stock Market Spotlight

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Stock buyers took an interest in a small group of low-priced issues today and let the rest of the market settle gently lower.

Only two of the 10 most active shares sold above $20 a share—and those two closed with losses. One of the eight others was cut in price.

Losses outnumbered gains by a substantial margin at the final bell. Changes were limited to less than $1 a share for the most part although there were several major exceptions.

The volume of business dropped below the 2,000,000 share mark for the first time in four sessions. Sales of 1,840,000 shares compared with 2,250,000 Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 of one point to 84.6. The rail section showed the largest loss while industrials and utilities posted minor declines.

Kroger & Co. jumped 2⅜ to 71 following word that directors had voted a year end extra dividend of 75 cents a share and had also proposed a two-for-one split of the common stock.

Budd Co., makers of railway and automotive equipment, took to honors on the most active list and gained 1⅜ at 18¼.

Lehn & Fink, another low-priced stock, finished ⅝ up at 12½. The company reported net profit for the September quarter of $419,895, a tidy increase over $154,148 in the comparable 1949 period.

Some other low-priced stocks in demand included Armour at 10⅝, American Bosch 15, Hupp Corp. 4, Hudson Motors (helped by an extra dividend) 17⅜, American Broadcasting 13⅛, Radio Corp. 18⅛, Publicker Industries 22⅛, and Eastern Air Lines 15⅝.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

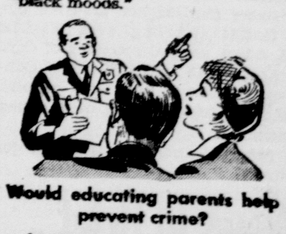
Are disagreeing doctors bad for patients?

Answer: Yes, especially for mental patients, report Drs. Alfred H. Stanton and Morris S. Schwartz of the Washington (D.C.) School of Psychiatry. A series of patients whom they observed for a period of 19 months tended to have periods of "excitement" whenever they knew their doctors disagreed about the nature or treatment of their illness. Doctors become complete "parent substitutes" to mental patients, so that having them disagree has the effect that it has on a child to have father say one thing and mother another.

Are "suicidal tendencies" hereditary?

Answer: Biologically, No. It has never been proved that the "genes" transmitted to his offspring by a parent who later destroys himself are different from those of a normal person. But suicide almost never represents the response to one unbearable situation, even though the person may believe so. It is actually the final stage of a chronic or recurrent state of deep depression, and to grow up in a family in which either parent is depressed tends to weaken a child's sense of security and leave him also prone to "black moods."



Would educating parents help prevent crime?

Answer: It might wipe out crime entirely—if the education were successful. And because there must be many well-intentioned parents who would not behave in ways that tend to make children delinquent if they understood what they were doing, there's sound sense in the suggestion that we could save money in the long run by spending some of the funds now used to build jails and mental hospitals on parent education. But teaching alone can't make fathers and mothers love their children, and it's love all children need most.

County Report Shows Budget In Sound Condition

Cash Position High And Collections Good

For the first three months of the current fiscal year beginning July 1, Allegany county has spent a total of $985,764.80 of its total appropriation of $3,037,849.13, according to the auditor's regular report.

The average monthly expenditure under the appropriation the figures show, should be $253,154, and the average quarterly expenditure under the appropriation should be $759,462.

In this first quarter, the appropriation is over-expended, according to this average, by a total of $226,302. However, officials point out that during the first quarter, there are non-recurring expenditures, and most departments are working well within their respective budgets.

Items such as $5,000 to the Industrial Promotion Committee, $5,000 to the Metropolitan Sanitary District, $15,675 to volunteer fire companies; $19,174 to incorporated towns, $79,153 paid for a note on money borrowed last year against the current levy, the cost of the primary election and other items will not recur during the fiscal year, thus keeping the appropriation budget well in balance.

The county has a balance of $2,052,084.33 in its appropriation account to operate the government for the remaining nine months of the fiscal period, the report shows.

The balance sheet as of September 30 shows the county has cash on hand and in banks totaling $1,847,140.46 and also has a total of $1,802,000 in United States Treasury Notes. This latter item, however, is school bond money invested after the sale of 1941 and 1948 school bond issues.

The county's total revenue thus far this year has amounted to $2,296,649.75 of which $1,455,272.33 came from direct taxes on real estate. Personal property taxes accounted for $88,400.52, and corporation taxes collected to date total $569,833.99. The county has received $44,000 from the Maryland Income Tax Fund; $15,894.77 from the State Racing Fund; $37,427.77 motor vehicle and gasoline taxes; and numerous other miscellaneous items.

The quarterly report shows uncollected taxes totaling $132,035.64 outstanding.

The county's bonded indebtedness as of September 30 was shown as a total of $5,160,000.

W. Va. Farmers To Post Land In Game Protest

Opposition Growing To Open Doe Season

Local and area sportsmen, many of whom do their fishing and hunting in nearby West Virginia woodlands, are watching the progress of West Virginia groups in their campaign to prevent an open season on doe and antlerless deer.

A mass meeting was held in Petersburg, W. Va., this week which was attended by a number of officials and representatives of the Grant County Rod and Gun Club, Bayard Rod and Gun Club, Blackwater Rod and Gun Club, Mineral County Wildlife Association, Inc., and numerous others.

Justin Arnold, of the Grant County Club, presided and introduced K. C. VanMeter, Jr., who stated that a petition opposing the season had been forwarded to game officials at Charleston. He also said Representative Ralph Bean of Moorefield had tried to get an appointment with Director McClintie and the Game Commission at Charleston, but had been unsuccessful and was refused an interview.

Agreement has been reached with many rural and woodland land owners to post their land during hunting season and thus deter those who would take advantage of the open season this fall.

A report from the various clubs was asked. "Curley" Harvey, Bayard; Jack Griffith, Davis, and several others reported on posting of land plans for patroling. S. S. Soy, former sheriff of Hampshire County, reported 148 farms out of 150 surrounding the open area are posted and further posting is taking place daily in the area.

Congressman Harley O. Staggers, a member of the Mineral County Wild Life Association, urged all clubs and land owners to request aid from the sheriff of each respective county, stating that the sheriff is the top law enforcement officer in each county and has the power to deputize for such an occasion. He also said that posting of land will be an effective last resort.

Arnold asked for suggestions as to enforcing "No Trespassing" of posted lands. Carl Weimer, Maysville, and others gave talks on this subject. Thomas Fischell, Keyser, read a letter from the attorney general of West Virginia concerning the right of owners to make arrests.

A petition was drawn by attorneys present requesting additional game protection for patrol duty as provided in Chapter 20, Article 3, Sections 1 and 6. This petition was signed by many present and will be circulated further before being forwarded to the Conservation Commission. About 175 persons attended this meeting.

10,001 Students Use School Hot Lunch Program

700 Increase Is Noted Over 1949

Allegany county schools provided balanced lunches for an average 10,001 students during September, an increase of 700 a day over last September, William P. Cooper, director of the School Lunch program, announced yesterday.

Hot lunches are available to all public school students under the extensive program administered through 35 cafeterias. In five schools where cafeteria facilities were not practical, food is delivered in thermos containers.

Cooper said the cost of the balanced lunches remains the same in spite of a 20 per cent boost in food costs and a drop in revenue due to an increase in the amount of free lunches.

He said the school lunch program is absorbing the increased costs in the hope that costs can be balanced later through economies resulting from volume purchases.

Lunches are provided for $1.15 a week or 25 cents a day. The cost to first, second and third grade students is $1 a week or 20 cents a day, based on smaller portions consumed by the beginners.

Among the most popular September menus, which were checked by Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of the program, were:

Spaghetti and meat balls, fruit juice, vegetable salad, rolls and butter, fruit, milk.

Meat loaf and gravy, fruit juice, mashed potatoes, green beans, apple crisp and milk.

Beef stew and vegetables, hot biscuits and butter, cabbage and raisin salad, sliced peaches and milk.

Barbecued beef on buns, buttered peas, lettuce salad, fruit juice, dixie cup and milk.

Home baked beans with bacon, cheese sticks, tossed salad, bread and butter, cookies and milk.

Chicken noodle soup and crackers, cheese salad sandwich, carrot sticks, chocolate pudding and milk.

Assistance was provided to 364 families and 920 children in Allegany county last month, the report showed. The payments amounted to $69.36 per family and $27.44 per child. In nearby Garrett county $10,049.17 was paid, or $76.71 for each of 131 families or $26.17 for each of 384 children.

Old age assistance payments were virtually on a par with the amounts paid for aid to children in September. Seven hundred fifty Allegany countians received $25,143.52, or $33.52 per person, the report revealed. In Garrett county 306 individuals obtained a total of $10,240.57, or $33.47 per person.

Needy blind payments of $942.93 were divided among 26 in Allegany county and $242.40 among five in Garrett county.

The report further showed that $9,474.72 was paid in 275 Allegany county general public assistance cases. Similarly, in Garrett county $2,650.03 was distributed among 75 cases.

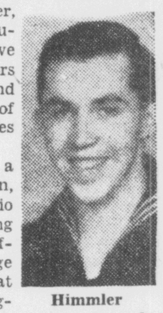
Two Local Vets Accept Top Jobs In Radio, Radar

Both Instructors At Trade School

Making the most of their experiences while in the service during World War II, two local men will start to work in Philadelphia, Pa., as field engineers in radar for the Philco Corporation.

Both of them, Robert Himmler, 26, of 717 Shawnee Avenue, and Donald Snyder, 29, of 408 Magruder Street, have been instructors in the Maryland Avenue branch of Allegany Trades Schools here.



Himmler

Himmler, a Navy veteran, worked as a radio technician during the War, and after his discharge was employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here for a short time. He then attended Frostburg State Teachers College and for the past two and one-half years has been teaching electricity and electronics at the local trade school.

Snyder

Snyder, who served in the Army during the war, instructed radar at Boca Raton, Fla. Prior to entering the Army, he graduated from the Signal Corps school maintained in the Maryland Avenue building where he has been a radio instructor for the past four and a half years.

Both men attended Allegany High School here, have always been interested in electricity, radio and radar. They said last night they will start to work Monday in Philadelphia in the Philco shops for about three weeks indoctrination and then will go to Florida for further training, study and field assignments. Both men said they agreed to accept foreign as well as domestic assignments of installation and servicing of radio and radar.

Rock Ledge Delays Flood Control Job

The laying of conduits on Valley Street beneath the B. and O. and Western Maryland Railway tracks is being delayed by a five-foot ledge of rock, Thomas E. Dickson, project engineer for the Army Engineers, said.

He said necessary dynamiting of the ledge will delay the project by several weeks.

The work does not, of course, affect the operation of the railroads, as bridges were built to support the weight of passing trains.

Bid Is Awarded For Wiley Ford Graded School

Westernport Firm Gets $95,900 Job

The Hamilton Lumber Co., Westernport, was awarded the contract last night to construct a new 10-room school for Wiley Ford, W. Va., with a low bid of $95,900.

Meeting last night, the Mineral County Board of Education awarded the contract to the Westernport firm. The number of bidders on the project was not ascertained.

Construction of the new school, replacing one destroyed by fire last May 21, will begin immediately. The contract calls for completion of the job by August 15, 1951, so the school can be occupied for the new school term.

A. G. Springer, assistant superintendent, said plans for the modern building which will be constructed of cinder blocks and brick veneer were drawn by Ray C. Coffman, Keyser architect.

The two-story frame structure in which children attended grades one to eight was burned to the ground in the early morning hours of May 21.

Since the fall term began the students have been attending classes in the church basement, sections of th fire hall and in a converted garage. One class is being transported to the Ridgeley elementary school.

The new building is scheduled to be a modern one-story structure with plans for an auditorium and gymnasium to be added later. Educators said a new site just off Route 28 at the entrance to the community has been purchased for the school.

The land, known to residents of the area as the "Foxall Land," comprises eight acres, all of which will be used by the board for the school and playgrounds.

The present situation, where the school is scattered over the town, will probably continue for the remainder of this year.

County Report Shows Budget In Sound Condition

Cash Position High And Collections Good

For the first three months of the current fiscal year beginning July 1, Allegany county has spent a total of $985,764.80 of its total appropriation of $3,037,849.13, according to the auditor's regular report.

The average monthly expenditure under the appropriation the figures show, should be $253,154, and the average quarterly expenditure under the appropriation should be $759,462.

In this first quarter, the appropriation is over-expended, according to this average, by a total of $226,302. However, officials point out that during the first quarter, there are non-recurring expenditures, and most departments are working well within their respective budgets.

Items such as $5,000 to the Industrial Promotion Committee, $5,000 to the Metropolitan Sanitary District, $15,675 to volunteer fire companies; $19,174 to incorporated towns, $79,153 paid for a note on money borrowed last year against the current levy, the cost of the primary election and other items will not recur during the fiscal year, thus keeping the appropriation budget well in balance.

The county has a balance of $2,052,084.33 in its appropriation account to operate the government for the remaining nine months of the fiscal period, the report shows.

The balance sheet as of September 30 shows the county has cash on hand and in banks totaling $1,847,140.46 and also has a total of $1,802,000 in United States Treasury Notes. This latter item, however, is school bond money invested after the sale of 1941 and 1948 school bond issues.

The county's total revenue thus far this year has amounted to $2,296,649.75 of which $1,455,272.33 came from direct taxes on real estate. Personal property taxes accounted for $88,400.52, and corporation taxes collected to date total $569,833.99. The county has received $44,000 from the Maryland Income Tax Fund; $15,894.77 from the State Racing Fund; $37,427.77 motor vehicle and gasoline taxes; and numerous other miscellaneous items.

The quarterly report shows uncollected taxes totaling $132,035.64 outstanding.

The county's bonded indebtedness as of September 30 was shown as a total of $5,160,000.

W. Va. Farmers To Post Land In Game Protest

Opposition Growing To Open Doe Season

Local and area sportsmen, many of whom do their fishing and hunting in nearby West Virginia woodlands, are watching the progress of West Virginia groups in their campaign to prevent an open season on doe and antlerless deer.

A mass meeting was held in Petersburg, W. Va., this week which was attended by a number of officials and representatives of the Grant County Rod and Gun Club, Bayard Rod and Gun Club, Blackwater Rod and Gun Club, Mineral County Wildlife Association, Inc., and numerous others.

Justin Arnold, of the Grant County Club, presided and introduced K. C. VanMeter, Jr., who stated that a petition opposing the season had been forwarded to game officials at Charleston. He also said Representative Ralph Bean of Moorefield had tried to get an appointment with Director McClintie and the Game Commission at Charleston, but had been unsuccessful and was refused an interview.

Agreement has been reached with many rural and woodland land owners to post their land during hunting season and thus deter those who would take advantage of the open season this fall.

A report from the various clubs was asked. "Curley" Harvey, Bayard; Jack Griffith, Davis, and several others reported on posting of land plans for patroling. S. S. Soy, former sheriff of Hampshire County, reported 148 farms out of 150 surrounding the open area are posted and further posting is taking place daily in the area.

Congressman Harley O. Staggers, a member of the Mineral County Wild Life Association, urged all clubs and land owners to request aid from the sheriff of each respective county, stating that the sheriff is the top law enforcement officer in each county and has the power to deputize for such an occasion. He also said that posting of land will be an effective last resort.

Arnold asked for suggestions as to enforcing "No Trespassing" of posted lands. Carl Weimer, Maysville, and others gave talks on this subject. Thomas Fischell, Keyser, read a letter from the attorney general of West Virginia concerning the right of owners to make arrests.

A petition was drawn by attorneys present requesting additional game protection for patrol duty as provided in Chapter 20, Article 3, Sections 1 and 6. This petition was signed by many present and will be circulated further before being forwarded to the Conservation Commission. About 175 persons attended this meeting.

10,001 Students Use School Hot Lunch Program

700 Increase Is Noted Over 1949

Allegany county schools provided balanced lunches for an average 10,001 students during September, an increase of 700 a day over last September, William P. Cooper, director of the School Lunch program, announced yesterday.

Hot lunches are available to all public school students under the extensive program administered through 35 cafeterias. In five schools where cafeteria facilities were not practical, food is delivered in thermos containers.

Cooper said the cost of the balanced lunches remains the same in spite of a 20 per cent boost in food costs and a drop in revenue due to an increase in the amount of free lunches.

He said the school lunch program is absorbing the increased costs in the hope that costs can be balanced later through economies resulting from volume purchases.

Lunches are provided for $1.15 a week or 25 cents a day. The cost to first, second and third grade students is $1 a week or 20 cents a day, based on smaller portions consumed by the beginners.

Among the most popular September menus, which were checked by Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of the program, were:

Spaghetti and meat balls, fruit juice, vegetable salad, rolls and butter, fruit, milk.

Meat loaf and gravy, fruit juice, mashed potatoes, green beans, apple crisp and milk.

Beef stew and vegetables, hot biscuits and butter, cabbage and raisin salad, sliced peaches and milk.

Barbecued beef on buns, buttered peas, lettuce salad, fruit juice, dixie cup and milk.

Home baked beans with bacon, cheese sticks, tossed salad, bread and butter, cookies and milk.

Chicken noodle soup and crackers, cheese salad sandwich, carrot sticks, chocolate pudding and milk.

Old age assistance payments were virtually on a par with the amounts paid for aid to children in September. Seven hundred fifty Allegany countians received $25,143.52, or $33.52 per person, the report revealed. In Garrett county 306 individuals obtained a total of $10,240.57, or $33.47 per person.

Two Local Vets Accept Top Jobs In Radio, Radar

Both Instructors At Trade School

Making the most of their experiences while in the service during World War II, two local men will start to work in Philadelphia, Pa., as field engineers in radar for the Philco Corporation.

Both of them, Robert Himmler, 26, of 717 Shawnee Avenue, and Donald Snyder, 29, of 408 Magruder Street, have been instructors in the Maryland Avenue branch of Allegany Trades Schools here.

Himmler

Himmler, a Navy veteran, worked as a radio technician during the War, and after his discharge was employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here for a short time. He then attended Frostburg State Teachers College and for the past two and one-half years has been teaching electricity and electronics at the local trade school.

Snyder

Snyder, who served in the Army during the war, instructed radar at Boca Raton, Fla. Prior to entering the Army, he graduated from the Signal Corps school maintained in the Maryland Avenue building where he has been a radio instructor for the past four and a half years.

Both men attended Allegany High School here, have always been interested in electricity, radio and radar. They said last night they will start to work Monday in Philadelphia in the Philco shops for about three weeks indoctrination and then will go to Florida for further training, study and field assignments. Both men said they agreed to accept foreign as well as domestic assignments of installation and servicing of radio and radar.

Rock Ledge Delays Flood Control Job

The laying of conduits on Valley Street beneath the B. and O. and Western Maryland Railway tracks is being delayed by a five-foot ledge of rock, Thomas E. Dickson, project engineer for the Army Engineers, said.

He said necessary dynamiting of the ledge will delay the project by several weeks.

The work does not, of course, affect the operation of the railroads, as bridges were built to support the weight of passing trains.

Bid Is Awarded For Wiley Ford Graded School

Westernport Firm Gets $95,900 Job

The Hamilton Lumber Co., Westernport, was awarded the contract last night to construct a new 10-room school for Wiley Ford, W. Va., with a low bid of $95,900.

Meeting last night, the Mineral County Board of Education awarded the contract to the Westernport firm. The number of bidders on the project was not ascertained.

Construction of the new school, replacing one destroyed by fire last May 21, will begin immediately. The contract calls for completion of the job by August 15, 1951, so the school can be occupied for the new school term.

A. G. Springer, assistant superintendent, said plans for the modern building which will be constructed of cinder blocks and brick veneer were drawn by Ray C. Coffman, Keyser architect.

The two-story frame structure in which children attended grades one to eight was burned to the ground in the early morning hours of May 21.

Since the fall term began the students have been attending classes in the church basement, sections of th fire hall and in a converted garage. One class is being transported to the Ridgeley elementary school.

The new building is scheduled to be a modern one-story structure with plans for an auditorium and gymnasium to be added later. Educators said a new site just off Route 28 at the entrance to the community has been purchased for the school.

The land, known to residents of the area as the "Foxall Land," comprises eight acres, all of which will be used by the board for the school and playgrounds.

The present situation, where the school is scattered over the town, will probably continue for the remainder of this year.
